MADRID, April 21.—The Cortes is considering a project for the reorganization of the army on the Prussian system.

MADRID, April 31.—Another informal meeting of the members of the majority in the Cortes was held to-day to nominate a candidate for the throne. So great was the diversity of opinion that the meeting broke up without result, leaving members more widely divided than before. Prime Minister Serrano declared the choice of Monpensier as king, or declarations of the republic were the only alternatives. General Prim, who was also present, remained silent throughout the proceedings. His conduct has given rise to the wide spread belief that he would not be unwilling to accept the Presidency of the Spanish Republic.

The argument was then continued on other pleas.

Freshet in Vermont.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONTPELIER, VT., April 21.—The warm weather and heavy rains of the last day or two have culminated in the worst freshet known here for twenty years. Cellars and basement stores in multitudes of cases are filled with water and streets overflowed at several points in the village. The bridges over North Branch are seriously threatened, though it is hoped they will be preserved. The damage to private property is quite heavy.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 21, 1869.

The United States Indian Commission here were to day informed of the arrival of their agent at Medicine Creek, Washita Mountains, with garden seeds, hoes, &c., of his hearty welcome by the military and Indians, his putting the plough in motion and selection of a site for mission schools. One hundred and fifty lodges of Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians were expected to arrive daily. The Indians take great interest in what is being done for them, but funds are wanted, as the Indian appropriation failed. Myriads of grasshoppers have appeared on the plains. A later dispatch states Roman Nose, Little Bigmouth, Yellow Bear and Old Storm, with six hundred Arapahoes, have come in ready to go their reservation. They are willing to be taught to follow the ways of white men.

The watch case manufactory of Wheeler, Parsons & Co. was robbed last December of $17,000 worth of property, and yesterday Gustave Kindet, employed by the firm, and Eugene Kindat and Abraham Vanderwager were arrested, charged with being the burglars.

The dwelling of John Durnin, at Rainbow, was burned Sunday night. Mr. Durnin perished in the flames, endeavoring to save his son.

Harvey Lyon, of Hoboken, together with Mrs. Gibson and her daughter, were thrown from their carriage while riding in Central Park yesterday. All were badly injured. Mr. Lyon had his skull fractured.

James Maher, arrested some months ago on a charge of complicity in the Rogers murder, was to-day discharged from custody.

All the first mortgage and land grant bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad Company were taken by parties in Boston yesterday, thus providing funds sufficient to complete the road and equip it perfectly, to pay all floating debts and build the Denver branch. The annual meeting for the election of Directors of the Company will be held at Boston tomorrow.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters met to day. The annual reports were read, after which a discussion occurred, without action, on a proposition looking to the reduction of commissions to agents. An order to regulate the storage and sale of petroleum, gasoline, &c., was adopted, which fixes the test of places so used at one hundred and ten Fahrenheit.

The Second Avenue Railroad Drivers' strike has been amicably adjusted and the cars have resumed trips. The drivers carried their points as to the hours of labor and compensation.

Peck, the absconding Grain Elevator man, has not been heard of, but he is believed to be concealed by his friends in New Jersey. A committee of the victims is enquiring into the situation of affairs.

The ship Frederick, arrived here, picked up the Captain, six of the crew and three passengers of the North German ship Adele, burned at sea on her voyage from Bremen for Rangoon.

The reported death of Peter Y. Sutter, a prominent lawyer, by suicide, is incorrect. He died from Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Mr. A. Spinner, of Wisconsin, was robbed in a so-called exchange office in Chambers street, in exchanging greenbacks for gold, of $1,750, which has been recovered by the police.

This evening a fire occurred at No. 5 Barclay street, occupied by Clark & Maynard, stationers. Loss $2,500; insured. Sarona & Linderman, spirit manufacturers, loss $8,000. The building was damaged to the extent of $2,000.

A new building on Grant street, Jersey City, was entirely demolished by wind this morning, and eight or ten carpenters were buried in the ruins. John Genescher was killed and Frederick Kerwin dangerously injured. The others escaped unhurt.

CUBA.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 21.—A special says: The Spanish Minister called on Secretary Fish yesterday, and demanded that a proclamation against fillibustering should be issued. The Secretary promptly declined, saying that as the insurgents had a provisional government, he saw no reason for hindering persons from taking up arms in their service. The Spanish Minister, some days since, promised a full reparation for insults to our flag by the Spanish in Cuba yesterday. He informed Secretary Fish that he had not heard from his government on the subject, when the Secretary informed him war would ensue if an answer was not forthcoming soon.

A London special says: It is understood here that the American Minister, in accordance with instructions from the United States Government, made a formal demand on Lord Clarendon, the British Foreign Secretary, asking for an explanation in relation to the case of the American ship Mary Lowell, which was captured by the Spanish war frigate off one of the Bahama Islands, while in charge of the British revenue official, with the seal of the Revenue Department on her hatches. This fact, in connection with the reported increase of the American fleet off the West India Islands, creates much sensation in commercial circles in this city, and it is thought, will very likely affect the new Spanish loan now about to be put on the market.

HAVANA, April 21.—The Catalonian volunteers, accompanied by detachments of mobilized colored troops, sailed for Jibra.

Advices from Nuevitas state General Lesca had arrived there from Puerto Principe. He would take supplies of provisions and ammunition and return. General Letona is appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Spanish forces in the Central Department. He has been reinforced with seven thousand troops from Havana, with which he will commence a vigorous campaign against the insurgents. One of the principal objects of the campaign will be the restoration of railroad communication with Nuevitas.

The steamer Borga, while on her way to Fernando Po, with prisoners from Havana, put into Porto Rico with her machinery disabled.

A steamer arrived to-day with one thousand regular troops from Spain.

Senate Session—Discussion Concerning the Rush for Office and the Appointments Made—Quakers Appointed as Indian Agents—Nominations Sent In, Confirmed and Withdrawn.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 21, 1869.

SENATE SESSION.

Mr. Wilson called up his resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Navy, with the consent of the Colombian Government, to cause further surveys to be made for a railway or ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien.

After debate the resolution was laid over in order to put it in a more acceptable form.

Mr. Anthony reported the Committee on Printing had made a contract with Bailey & Rives for reporting Congressional proceedings, and explained that it would effect a saving of $18,000 yearly from present rates.

Mr. Carpenter called up his resolution, calling upon the heads of departments for information as to the number of clerks employed by them, where they came from, who recommended them, &c.

The resolution gave rise to a lively debate about the general question of appointments.

Mr. Trumbull said it was time something was done to correct abuses which had grown up, relative to office seeking. We had witnessed for the past six weeks the melancholy evidence of this fact. Senators and members had become mere solicitors for offices for their constituents, and might be seen hanging around the doors and ante-rooms of secretaries, like so many beggars. He gave notice that at the next session he would introduce a bill making it a penal offense for any member of either House to solicit office or attach their names to papers recommending persons for positions.

Mr. Fessenden did not know there was anything unusual in the pressure for office. He had been here thirty years ago, not in the Senate, but in the House, and it was the same at the change of an administration. He would like to see the evil stopped, but he did not see how it was to be done. For himself he made it a rule to sign very few papers of recommendation, and those only such as were known to him. He never went near the departments, except when he could not help it, and he disliked as much as the Senator from Illinois hanging around the doors and ante rooms of heads of departments.

Mr. Cameron deprecated the appointment of persons to office without the knowledge and recommendation of Senators and members from the State from which the parties came; that had been done to a great extent under this Administration: there had not been a single man appointed from Pennsylvania at his solicitation, or on his recommendation. He had no doubt nine-tenths of all the persons appointed were his friends, for they could not make appointments from Pennsylvania out of the Republican party without appointing his friends. (Laughter.) The course pursued by the Administration in this respect was a bad one. Nevertheless, the Senate and the country had had tangible evidence of it. Within a few days one man had been sent in from Pennsylvania for a foreign mission, (referring to the nomination of A. L. Russell as Minister to Ecuador,) who was a constitutional drunkard. Neither himself nor his colleague had been consulted about this appointment, and it was with difficulty they could convince the Committee on Foreign Relations that it was an unfit appointment to be made. Another man had been nominated for a Consul who has been a constitutional thief. These were the kind of appointments made from his State, when the Senators were not consulted. In old times it was the custom for the President and heads of departments to send for Senators and consult them about the appointments. There were fewer blunders made, and bad men did not stand as good a chance of getting places.

Mr. Abbott offered an amendment, providing that appointments to department positions shall be made according to the State populations, which opened a wider range of debate and caused a discussion of the relative rights of the North and South.

Mr. Sawyer asserted the Democratic State of Kentucky had received more appointments in the departments than the entire Republican party south, and said he had been told by a member of the Cabinet that the Senators from the reconstructed States must remember the white Republican vote of the south was very small.

Mr. Fessenden said he supposed the Senator from North Carolina meant the Southern States did not get their full share. The Senator must reflect that during a certain period of our history a certain number of States did not furnish any clerks. They were engaged in other duties, and it was deemed necessary to make selections from other sections. They could not, if they had desired, make the Departments turn out experienced and educated men and appoint ignorant and inexperienced men in their places.

Mr. Wilson wished to say there was nothing new in what had been complained of by Senators. Fifteen years ago the same thing existed to the same extent. The rush for office had always prevailed more or less. He could say one thing, and so could his colleague, and he hoped others could, namely, that no man had been appointed at his solicitation during the last three years of Andrew Johnson's Administration. He had not asked for the appointment of a personal friend since the present President was inaugurated. He didn't know whether his request would be granted, if he should make the application.

He did not believe in the attempt to equalize clerks among the states; there could be no equality. He was in favor of recognizing every section and treating it fairly; but he thought the dividing of clerks equally among the states was a ridiculous movement and would bring nothing but contempt on Congress.

Mr. Sumner hoped the Senotor from North Carolina did not mean a man must be appointed from a certain State, regardless of his fitness for the place. The war had shown all our best Generals came from the State of Ohio—such men as Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. Now, he did not think it would be just to say Ohio should have but one General in the service while North Carolina should have another. In all appointments to office the question of fitness, and not the question of locality, should be paramount.

The Senate went into executive session. The doors opened at five and a recess was taken until seven o'clock.

The following nominations were withdrawn by the President: Charles P. Morrill, Consul at Verviers; Lewis M. Burson, Chief Justice of Montana; H. Richardson, United States Attorney for Montana; H. A. Miller, to be Minister to the Sandwich Islands.

Senator Sumner, to-day, called on the Secretary of State and informed him the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations had authorized him to report adversely on several nominations to foreign missions, among them Mr. Pile as Minister to Brazil, and Mr. Carlisle as Minister to Stockholm, and inquired if it was his intention to send in others for those positions. The Secretary replied he had decided not to send in any more nominations, but under these circumstances the President would probably make new nominations for these positions.

ON A TOUR SOUTH.

To-day a party of gentlemen, who intend to leave here to-morrow for the purpose of visiting the South, had an interview with the President at the Executive Mansion. The party consists of General Thos. L. Kane, Ex-Gov. Ward, of New Jersey, and Mr. Conger, his Secretary, Gens. Le Duc and Van Wyck, of New York, Col. J. W. Forney, Wm. Prescott Smith, and others. Col. Forney stated that they had deemed it proper to call upon him previous to their departure. Their visit was a purely disinterested one, entirely devoid of politics, to do what they could to promote good feeling between the two sections and assist in the development of the South. The President replied that he was very happy to hear they intended to make the trip, and hoped it would be productive of the best results. Nothing would do more to properly reconstruct the South than white loyal emigration, and he had no doubt northern capital and northern men would readily avail themselves of the superinducements offered as soon as they could be assured of protection and a cordial welcome.

TREATIES DISCUSSED.

The San Juan treaty was again discussed in executive session to-day. The indications are that both it and the Sandwich Islands treaty will go over until next session.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A delegation of a dozen Pennsylvanians, headed by Colonel John W. Forney, had an interview with the President to-day. They leave to-morrow for an extended tour South to examine into the condition of the country, its prospects, resources, wants and disposition toward the Government.

About forty revenue officers in various districts of the Unitad States were removed to-day.

The commissions of a large number of collectors, appraisers and surveyors, lately confirmed by the Senate, were sent to the President to-day for signature.

Office seekers flocked to the Treasury and other executive offices to day, having heard that appointments were being made.

Secretary Boutwell has authorized the heads of bureaus in the Treasury Department to grant leave of absence to Odd Fellows, at their discretion, to attend the forthcoming celebration in Philadelphia.

Secretary Boutwell has issued an order directing that there shall be no exchange of securities to ensure the public deposits in National Banks.

Damage Done by High Water.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORT HENRY, N. Y., April 21.—Great damage was done by the giving way of Ensign pond, at the head of Millbrook, eight miles from this place, this morning. Bridges, dams, barns, &c., were carried away, and much damage done at Moriah Center, where the postoffice, stores, &c., were swept away. At Port Henry, which is at the outlet of the brook, the water overflowed the banks and struck out in a new channel, coursing down through the upper part of the village, doing great damage to the unfinished Moriah. Lake Champlain, White Hall and Plattsburg Railroad, while the main stream swept away the support to the high bridge, and a large part of the highway. It is thought the damage will exceed $150,000.

BUTLER, PA.

A "Model" Cage for Unclean Birds—Mrs. Shugart, the Alleged Murderess—Trial of Z. Taylor Hockenburry for the Murder of His Cousin, Miss McCandless.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

The ancient borough of Butler is as remarkable for its hospitality, and the refinement of its social circle, as in the good old times when Hon. John Bredin presided over its Courts of Justice and Rev. Isaiah Niblock was at the head of its clergy. There are many improvements, some of which are not so much improvements as they might have been. The new Court House, which is so elegant in appearance, proves to be deficient in its accoustic arrangements, and the new jail, built last year at a cost of $25,000, is such an institution as was not fit to be built. It is said to be on the same plan with that of Washington and Mercer counties, and is a disgrace to the State and age. The front view of the edifice is that of a handsome two story brick dwelling, with hall and stairway in the center and wings. Passing through this hall, the door, opening at the back, discloses one of heavy iron rods, through which one sees the interior of this cage for unclean birds. It is one room, forty feet square, twenty-two feet from floor to ceiling. The walls are of solid, heavy masonry, without an opening of any kind, except three or four small registers opening into the flues. The centre of the roof is of glass, and admits plenty of light, but no air reaches this living tomb, except such as comes through perforated plates in the iron floor. This air comes from the basement or cellar below, into which it finds its way through iron port holes, grated, and many of them filled by loose brick and tan-bark. The room is heated by two large metal stoves, and when I visited it, it appeared to be about seventy degrees. There are six iron cells with lattice work tops and a close iron fence partitioning off two of these cells, and a space about eight feet square, as a female department. The slightest noise in this department, even the rustle of a leaf, must be heard in the other department. In the other words, there can be no privacy such as decency requires. In this place Mrs. Shugart has been confined for six months, without once breathing the pure air of heaven, or setting foot on any of God's earth. This woman is imprisoned on a charge of poisoning her husband, and will probably be tried at the present term of Court. There is a strong and general belief in her guilt. The motive is said to have been a guilty passion for another man who is imprisoned on the other side of the iron fence, and is said to have been once locked in her cell by a mistake of the Sheriff. Mrs. Shugart is a German, appears to be fifty years old, has a handsome face, and a head so broad and flat on the top as to suggest deformity. When I saw her yesterday this strangely shaped head was throbbing with pain, caused probably by the confined and heated air.

THE MURDERER OF HIS COUSIN.

Zachary Taylor Hockenburry is also confined on a charge of murder. He has been in this place nine months; was arrested on a charge of shooting Miss McCandless, his cousin, a beautiful girl, with whom he was madly in love. He was but nineteen years of age when the deed was done, is a flaxen-haired, blue-eyed boy, whom one might meet many times without other than favorable impressions. There are also several lunatics in this model prison, condemned for the crime of insanity to drag out life in an exhausted receiver. It is a burlesque on our civilization to spend so much in the human intention of making prisoners comfortable while denying them all power of exercise in the open air. No set of men can rightfully deprive the humblest or most guilty of the use of air or the use of his limbs, unless it be necessary in order to protect society in some embryo state. A community is not organized which cannot and does not construct prisons which will protect itself without suffocating or crippling its prisoners.

MEETING OF THE COURT.

The Court met on Monday, the 19th. The forenoon was spent in calling over the list of jurors, hearing and excusing some for illness in their families, hearing evidence about granting licenses, &c., &c. Judge Maguffin in the chair, decided to postpone the trial until the afternoon, when all the jurors sworn would be present. At two o'clock the prisoner, Z. Taylor Hockenburry, was brought in by the Sheriff and took his seat by his counsel. He was summoned to stand up, which he did, trembling and growing red and white by turns. His counsel, J. Thompson, Esq., read an affidavit of the prisoner, made six months ago, asking a postponement of his trial because of the absence of two witnesses, by whom he expects to prove an alibi. His petition had been granted, the Sheriff had failed to find the parties who had immigrated to Kansas, and they were lost sight of, and Mr. Thompson moved for a further postponement of the trial, in the hope of finding those witnesses. The Court overruled the motion, on the ground that there was no reasonable hope that these witnesses could be found. The prisoner was then ordered to stand and hold up his hand while the indictment was read by the Clerk of Court. For some ten minutes of the reading his face and hands turned blue, and he trembled so as to require support by leaning on the desk, but as the absurd repetitions of the indictment were poured out on his devoted head, page after page, he grew red and white by turns, the perspiration stood in beads on his face, and after the reading had continued half an hour his counsel excused the other half, and to the summons of "guilty or not guilty" he plead "not guilty" promptly, and with an air of innocence, James Wilson, his guardian and next friend, sat with him and his attorneys. The father of the murdered girl also sat with the prosecuting attorneys. The afternoon was spent, from two until four o'clock, in trying to find a jury, but so many had formed opinions that the whole pannel was exhausted and only nine jurors found, when the Court ordered talesmen. The doors were closed to prevent the escape of the men present, and messengers sent out to the highways and by-ways to press into service enough to form an acceptable pannel.

ATTORNEYS ENGAGED.

The prosecution evince no blood thirstiness, and in exhausting the pannel only asked three if they were conscientiously opposed to capital punishment. Mr. McCandless, the bereaved father, is a small,

(Why will it wabble?)
Fair damsels note thy bird-like flight.
And praise thy form compact and light.
(Jerked o'er the cobble.)
E'en fools who scoff the iron horse
Admire thy arrow-darting course.
(I fear I'll fall.)
Thy wheels, like chariot of the sun,
Revolve as driven by Phaeton.
(I'm sure I shall.)
No eye can trace thy speeding spokes,
Responsive to my trained foot's strokes.
("Sprained" it should be.)
Like bloodhound bounding to the fray,
Swift as the eagle for the prey
(The boys pass me.)
We skim along the wondering earth,
And distance steeds of vulgar birth.
(When they stand still.)
We rush through plodding, dusty streets,
The swarming, choking town retreats,
(I've had my fill.)
Firm poised, I feel of fear no trace,
The fresh'ning breezes flush my face.
(My boots are worn.)
My every nerve the motion thrills,
And happiness my bosom fills
(My pants are torn.)
Past lake, o'er hill, through wood, down vale,
I skim like bark before the gale.
(I'm saddle sore.)
My blood within my veins flows free,
I feel of spirit birth with thee.
(I'll ride no more.)

—Washburne is in New York.

—Fisk has bought a hotel at Newport.

—Mme. La Grange has gone to Europe.

—Titusville and Erie think velocipedes a nuisance.

Mrs. Stanton may come down on the new organ.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers is still acting at the Boston theatre.

—The rush to the White Pine district is still immense.

—Fashionable Parisiennes now wear wigs of floss-silks.

—Thin gauze veils are said to be one of the new summer fashions.

—Miss Adelaide Phillips sung at a concert in Boston last evening.

—Rumor says the Pope has sent for Beecher to come to his council.

—Two paintings, by Delacroix, sold in New York recently for $7,420.

—Mme. La Baronne de Rothschild has written a book of reminiscenses.

—On Monday Boston celebrated the anniversary of the battle of Lexington.

—The Republic of Cuba has started a journal in New York called the Revolution.

—One of the most gorgeous of Queen Isabella's coaches is now used by Serrano.

—Napoleon has decided not to erect a statue to his mother, Queen Hortense, at present.

—Lucille Western played Nancy Sykes at Salt Lake City and the Mormons were horrified.

—The velocipede is an invention that travels fast. It has already reached Shanghae.

—"The shoddy of the heavens" is the poetical name given by a Boston preacher to ærolites.

—Two new Cunard steamers are being built. They are called the Abysinia and the Algeria.

—Offenbach, who has hitherto confined himself to light work, is about to write a grand opera.

—A negro woman, in Caroline county, Md., has been indicted by the Grand Jury for witchcraft.

—Jackson Haines astonished both St. Petersburg and Copenhagen last winter by his skating.

—On the 13th inst. South Mountain, near Gettysburg, had a covering of snow several inches deep.

—The Pope is going to dub the French Prince Imperial "Roman Patrician"—a much sought for title.

—A valuable gold mine has been opened, or rather re-opened, for it has been worked before, in Milton county, Georgia.

—Eight thousand pages of correspondence on the Alabama question, have accumulated, and we are still where we started.

—Three mad dogs have been killed in Lancaster this week, and quite a number have met violent deaths in Chester county.

—Harvard students have begun their base ball season. The University nine played the Freshmen nine last Saturday and beat them.

—Report still makes that formidable expedition to Cuba, remain at New Orleans fitting out; it ought to be very formidable indeed by this time.

—England has a million more women than she has men; so it is not much to be wondered at that they are beginning to think about their rights.

—A man named Wm. H. Duckworth shot and killed an express messenger named Jay Johnson, on Monday afternoon at Cumberland, Pa.

—The Americans at Dresden have organized a base-ball club, as a manifestation of National spirit. The English have a cricket club there.

—Signor Bertinnatti is the new Italian minister to Washington, in place of Signor Cerruti, who is forced to retire by a painful opthalmic disease.

—A Georgia paper says the people of that section have made up their minds to raise their own bread, and that the planters have put in about forty per cent. of corn, ten of oats, and fifty of cotton.

—A few years ago, three or four gold fish were taken from the fountain near the Capitol, at Washington, and thrown into the Potomac, and now that river has a numerous and glittering finny population.

—Information indicates that the red skins contemplate a raid upon the whites in the territories more bloody than the West has yet suffered. Such being the case, it is scarcely to be wondered at that Colorado longs to cease being a territory.

—In Hindoostan, when a piece of land is in controversy, two holes are dug in the disputed spot, in which the plaintiff's and defendant's lawyers put their legs, and remain there until tired. The client whose lawyer first becomes wearied loses the suit.

—The National Intelligencer newspaper, which has been the organ of so many Administrations, does not appear to be in a very flourishing condition. The other day its job printing office, with type, presses, &c., was sold at auction for about $7,000.

—The New York underground street railway bill, just passed by the New York Assembly, makes necessary the destruction of St. Peters Church; and the Catholic Telegraph asserts that any attempt at such demolition will meet with forcible resistance.

—Rhode Island talks of showing her indignation to Senator Sprague, when he comes back from Washington. It would be a good plan for the inhabitants to gather upon the borders and refuse to let him put his foot within the state—in fact to make him step over it.

—The King of Greece on a late tour through a portion of his dominions saw many evils of which he had heard little at Athens. The means of communication are even worse than in the neighboring parts of the Turkish empire, and a swarm of greedy officials retard rather than encourage industrial works.

—Philadelphia seems to have none whose business it is to remove carrion from the highway. On Friday a mad dog was shot at the corner of Fifth and Filbert streets, and on Monday afternoon the carcase, rotten and dead, still lay there doing more harm, perhaps, in those three warm days than it had done when alive.

—The Erie Dispatch says a young lady at the Porterfield mill, near Tidioute, packs eight thousand shingles every day, and earns one dollar each day, as much as most of the male laborers. She has kept this up for the last two months, and says she will henceforth pack ten. Is this not a strong argument in favor of female suffrage?

—A Philadelphia drayman has invented an "Oatometer"—to save time in the feeding of animals. The machine in question turns with a crank. The horse or mule sits upon his haunches and straightens out his neck. A peck of oats is then slung into him at a single revolution of the cylinder, inside of a minute and a quarter.

—The amount of "garden truck" used by a large city is startling to persons not in the habit of studying statistics. Take Philadelphia for instance; very much of her supply of vegetables is drawn from our own State, and yet the farmers of Camden and vicinity have estimated that 6,000,000 baskets of tomatoes will be required from them for the trade of the coming summer.

—R. C. Harding, a young gentleman from Chicago, started with three friends for New York last week, en route for California. They had some friends at North East, near Erie, and stopped over to hear a concert there. On Saturday afternoon they were shooting at a mark with revolvers when one prematurely discharged in the hands of one of his companions. The ball hit young Harding and he fell instantly dead.

Presidential Campaign Expenses.

The Union Republican Congressional Executive Committee has rendered an account of its stewardship during the last political campaign, by which it appears that the amount of cash receipts was $64,206. Of this, New York contributed $8,399; Massachusetts, $6,105; Ohio, $2,110; New Hampshire, $1,920; Michigan, $1,887; Pennsylvania, $1,745; Vermont, $1,598; and so down—Maine having given but $630, and Rhode Island but $444. The diplomatic officers from abroad contributed $4,492, and large sums were received from postmasters and others holding Federal offices. The expenses of printing and circulating campaign documents was $34,740. Each of the unreconstructed States received about $3,090, and the transportation of voters from Washington to the State election in Maine, and to the Presidential election in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut cost $1,623. Other items swelled the entire expenses of the campaign, so far as the National Committee was concerned, to $61,196. The documents distributed were of about fifty different kinds, embracing some in German and in French, and making in all 44,570,400 pages.

THE FIRST exhibition of the pupils of the Institution for the Improved Instruction for Deaf Mutes was held in New York on the 19th. The Institution was organized on February 25th, 1867, and now numbers over twenty pupils. The teachers in the school examined the pupils in history, arithmetic, geography, and the other ordinary English branches. Much interest was shown by the audience in the performance of the pupils, particularly at their quickness of perception, and readiness in communicating answers to different questions. The articulation of several of the pupils was very distinct, and nearly all of them could be understood. A blackboard and map exercise was also given. A gentleman in the audience stated, as a proof of the increasing recognition of the articulation method, that a class had been successfully taught by it in the Bloomingdale Asylum.

A NEW notion has been introduced at social parties in Paris. At the entrance of the salon is placed a large covered basket containg small bouquets of flowers, and presided over by a modern Flora. Each guest plunges his or her hand into the basket and takes a posy, which the women attach to their dress or put in their hair, and the gentlemen place in their buttonholes. The latter promenade through the salons, each in search of a lady wearing a similar bouquet to his own; and when she is found, he has a right to take possession of her and retain her as a partner for the rest of the evening.

Day Nurseries.

In Paris, nurseries for the care of the infants of the working mothers have been established with success, and recently the plan has been adopted in London. A proper house being provided with suitable rooms and conveniences, the child of any mother is received from six o'clock in the morning until half past eight at night; but such child must be under three years of age. Nursing mothers are allowed access once or twice a day; but the infant, as well as all of the children in charge, are fed on suitable food as often as needful—and the charge is six cents for each child, or eight cents for two children, per day, up to six P. M. If the child remains after this hour, two cents are charged in addition. No child is kept over night. Care is taken to secure vaccination and to guard against infectious disorders. The attention paid to the bathing of the children, to ventilation, and other requisites for securing the health and well-being of the children, are witnessed by the mother; and she will naturally see the necessity for these things, and adopt them, so far as her means will permit, in her own abode.

It is manifest that an institution of this kind can in many ways do much good, and it would seem capable of being extended so as to accommodate mothers who may not strictly belong to the working class, and thus furnish employment in the care of children to many other women. The advantage of such an institution over that of putting a child wholly away from the mother's care, and even thoughts, must be great indeed, saying nothing of the abuse or misjudgement to which a child is subject in the hands of a professional nurse. In point of expense, the public nursery has much in its favor, while the strengthening of the maternal tie is of first importance. Amid the plans and agitations in reference to the woman question, this subject ought to receive a share of attention—that is, if a regard to the details by reform is to be secured is considered of any importance.—N. Y. Tribune.

Mormonism—Brigham Young on the War Path.

The Salt Lake Reporter of the 10th, printing an outrageous speech made at the Mormon Conference, says:

For one whole year the Brighamites have deceived the country and mystified their dupes, by a pretended allegiance to the United States. When the late Conference began, many thought they would still keep up the little game of loyalty; they even talked of putting up a house for the entertainment of Grant and his Cabinet when on their summer visit. But Brigham had held in as long as he could; the poison was in him and it had to come out. On Thursday afternoon, the last session of Conference, he took occasion to air his inveterate hate of the Union and the country, and to show the bitter disloyalty that rankles in his black heart. And, ye Gods! didn't he belch it forth? For one solid hour every epithet that a vile fancy could suggest, sharpened by forty years of practice, was hurled at the heads of the nation; President, Vice-President, Congress, Army and Federal officials in Utah, were in turn visited with torrents of the vilest billingsgate that ever fouled the mouth of an outcast from the slums of the Five Points. The strongest terms of the English language utterly fail to convey any idea of this sermon-harangue, to which (incredible as it may seem!) five thousand women and children were listeners! We owe an apology to our readers, even for printing any portion of this stuff, but there are some things that ought to be published, that the world may know Brighamism pure and simple; and after ending it let our patrons consider this issue disgraced by such quotations from that filthy source, and lay it out of sight forever.

Indiana Railroads.

The Lafayette Gazette says: There are now, in running order, within the border of this State, 2,566 miles of first class railroad. The tracks, engines, shops, and all their property complete was valued, one year ago, at $164,224,000. The construction of the new line to connect with the Alton and St. Louis road is a fixed fact. The Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne, and the Cleveland, Columbus Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railway, guarantee the means for building it. The route has been surveyed and platted, portions of it have been put under contract, and all will be in running order by next fall. The building of this railroad will give two competing parallel railroad lines from St. Louis to New York via Pittsburgh, and both running through fine coal and iron beds between Indianapolis and Terre Haute. Many of the proposed railroads will open the mineral wealth of our State as it has never been previously, and the coal and iron of Indiana will place it in the foremost ranks as one of the best States for investment of capital that can be selected. It is estimated that the coal beds which are to be thus thrown open by these lines of railroad comprise an area of about 8,000 square miles, of an average thickness of from six to eight feet, most of which can be obtained without shafting or pumping.

A DENTIST in Vienna recently supplied Madame de B., a lady well known in fashionable circles, with a splendid set of false teeth, worth about $200, and waited with exceeding patience for payment. Finding that the lady "made no sign," he applied, after three months had elapsed from the date of delivery, by letter for the discharge of his claim. No answer. A fortnight later he wrote again, in somewhat stronger language, but received as little notice of his second as of his first application. Determined to have his money, and to be even with Madame de B. for her discourtesy, he inserted in a small suburban paper the following advertisement: "A magnificent set of self-adjusting enamelled teeth to be sold dirt-cheap. They are daily on view in the mouth of Madame de B., (full name,) Stadt, So and So street, No. ——." Then he cut out the slip, and enclosed it to the fair defaulter in an envelope. Two hours after, his bill was paid, and Madame de B. hoped, as the paper in which the advertisement appeared was an insignificant one, that she had heard the last of her bargain; but the leading journals of Vienna have got hold of the story, and no teeth have made such a sensation since Cadmus' famous crop.

JOSH BILLINGS was asked, "How fast does sound travel?" and his idea is that it depends a good deal upon the noise you are talking about. "The sound of a dinner-horn, for instance, travels half a mile in a second, while an invitashun to git up in the morning i have known to be 3 quarters uv an hour goin up 2 pair uv stairs, and then not hev strength left to be heard."

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, and all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.

A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.

It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS

PENN'A CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, }
WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1869. }

The market has been quiet and dull thus far this week and to-day, under the influence of unfavorable advices from New York, shippers were very shy and would not take hold unless concessions were made. Since the date of our last report, however, there has been a very fair volume of business, and included in the sales, were several pretty good sized droves, taken for shipment to New York. There has been no Philadelphia buyers here since late last fall, that market having been supplied mainly by the eastern part of the State. We expect, however, to see buyers from that point in this market within the next few weeks, as they always fall back on Pittsburgh when the supply nearer home gives out. Compared with last week prices are fully one-fourth, perhaps a half lower, and it is probable that there will be a still further decline before the close of the week.

WEDNESDAY, April 14.—Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Brown to Jas. Martin 16, weighing 20,700, at 7¼; same for same to same, 14 weighing 14,700, at 6¾; Thoman to Rodgers 7, weighing 6,575, at 6¾; Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Webb to Thompson 18, weighing 20,825.

THURSDAY, April 15.—Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Helmes & Pfieffer to Aull & Co. 30, weighing 34,025, at 7,75; same for Doud to Coldoller 2, weighing 1,950, at 8; Orr & Williams for Potter to Donald 37 head mixed stock, at 5,50@6,70; Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Holmes & Pfieffer to Kelly 31, weighing 35,000; Thompson to Beach & Bray 47, weighing 59,425; same to same 18, weighing 20,775.

FRIDAY, April 16.—Moderwell to Donald 27, weighing 40,950, at 7½; same to same 3, at 7½; Hunter & Co. to Beardsly & Co. 32, weighing 41,056, at 6¾.

SATURDAY April 17.—Strickler to Kelly 31 weighing 45,025, at 7,70; Lee to Beach & Bray 32, weighing 44,625, at 8½; same to same, 66 weighing 83,150, at 7¾; same to same 35, at 7½; Holloway to Gillett & Co. 43, weighing 58,100, at 8¼; same to same 48, weighing 63,310 at 8,25.

MONDAY, April 19.—Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Webb to Beach & Bray 48, weighing 64,675; same for same to same 38, weighing 47,200.

TUESDAY, April 20.—Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Webb to Wiser, 18 weighing 18,535, at 7; same for Brown to Hines, 17 cows at 7; Purcell to Stewart, 22 weighing 23,350, at 7; Eller to same 12 weighing 13,200, at 7.

WEDNESDAY, April 14.—Hedges & Taylor for Solomon to Moses 13 weighing 14,100, at 7¼; Shamberg to Gillett & Co. 61 weighing 80,050, at 8⅛; Holmes, Lafferty & Co. for Thompson to Martin 52 weighing 59,575, at 7¼; same for Brown to Martin 54 weighing 58,900, at 7; Friend to Moses 13 weighing 14,750, at 7, and 2 bulls at 6; Hedges & Taylor 2, at 7¾.

SHEEP—The Sheep market has ruled steady since the date of our last report until to-day, when under the influence of unfovorable advices from New York, and a fair supply, the feeling was weak, and it is probable that there will be a decline within the next twenty-four hours. Clipped Sheep may be quoted at 4@6½, and wooled at 6¾ to 7¾@8; though it takes something extra to bring the outside quotations.

HOGS—The Hog market has been very dull thus far this week, and compared with last week, prices are fully half a cent lower. We now quote Philadelphia Hogs at 10¾@11 and Yorkers at 9¼@9½. The arrivals do not appear to have been any larger than usual, but there has been a material falling off in the demand, and it is this that gives the market, to use a common expression, a black eye. It is more than likely that nearly all who had Hogs on sale this week lost money, as they were, no doubt, bought with last week's prices in view.

The following live stock was shipped for Eastern markets from Penna. Central Stock Yards, during the week ending April 20th, 1869, as furnished by Mr. J. H. Grayson:

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1869. }

There is no improvement to note in the oil business, and what is worse still, the prospects for the future are by no means encouraging. The market, although firm enough so far as regards prices, appears to be perfectly dead, and it is estimated that nearly two-thirds of our refineries are standing idle; it is to be regretted, but such is the fact, and there is no disguising it. It would appear that oil can be delivered at the sea-board from other points, cheaper than it can from Pittsburgh, which is owing to the fact that transportation is cheaper, and unless there is a remedy discovered and applied and that, too, very soon, Pittsburgh, instead of standing out as the most prominent point for manufacturing oil, will have to stand in the back ground. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has it in its power to relieve Pittsburgh from its present embarassing condition, by reducing freights, and thus enabling our refiners to compete with other places, and continuing the oil business, here, where it properly belongs.

CRUDE—The market is quiet and unchanged. Spot or, sellers option, may be quoted at 15 for 40@46 and 15¼ for 40@45 gravity, with a sale of 1,000 bbls. 40@45, seller next thirty days at 15¼. The demand, both for present and future deliveries, continues very limited, while the offerings are light.

REFINED—The Refined market is quiet and unchanged. But a single sale reported, 500 bbls, buyer until August, at 36. April, is still quoted at 32½; May and June at 34; April to July 35; and June to December at 36. Buyer, all year, nominal at 38¼@39.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was falling slowly last evening, with eight feet ten inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks. Weather stormy, and considerably colder, though, otherwise, pleasant.

No arrivals to record aside from the regular packets. The Lawrence from St. Louis, and Kenton from Portsmouth are both due here to-day, and the Glasgow and Lorena will reach here to-morrow or next day.

The new steamer Australia, Capt. Dan Moore, will positively depart for New Orleans to-day, and passengers and shippers can rely on this boat going through.

The Glendale, Capt. Hare, will positively leave for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi to-morrow. She is an excellent boat, and offers superior accommodations to passengers.

Capt. D. Z. Brickell, who has been in California some time on a visit to his brother, is expected home shortly.

The R. C. Gray, Capt. Isaac Whittaker is filling up steadily for Cincinnati and Louisville and will be the first boat out.

Capt. W. W. Martin has just reached home after an extended tour through the South.

The Bellevernon, Capt. Darragh, Jr.; is announced for St. Louis and St. Paul forthwith. She is one of the best steamers comes to this port, and as we noted yesterday, when it comes to speed, she is hard to beat; having recently made a remarkably quick trip to New Orleans and back.

The Mary Davage and Barges, Capt. James Shedden, are announced to leave for St. Louis to morrow.

—The Minneapolis was to have left St. Louis for St. Paul, on Sunday last.

—The Great Republic and Leonidas left New Orleans for St. Louis on last Wednesday.

—The Lorena, from St. Louis, left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday.

—The Camelia, Pittsburgh to Nashville, passed by Cincinnati on Monday.

—Fears are entertained that the Mississippi will go through its banks at East St. Louis into Cohokia Creek. The current of the river has been turned that way by the improvements made in the St. Louis water-works at Bissel's Point, on the Missouri shore, and it strikes with great force, and only lacks one hundred yards of going through to the creek.

—NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—The steamer Nina Simmes, from Bayou Sara for New Orleans, struck a snag, above Baton Rougue, on Saturday night, and sunk in fifteen minutes. Every-body was saved. The boat and cargo, together with the books and papers, are a total loss. The boat was valued at $10,000, and insured for $6,000.

—The Simmes was a little side-wheel steamer, 200 feet in length. She was built at New Albany (Indiana) before the war, and belonged to the Bayou Sara Packet Company.

—The Glasgow from Dubuqe, left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday. Pilots—Marsh Hays and Tom Javens. Her officers say that she did not cut the rates on the Upper Mississippi, as reported by the papers in that region.

—Capts. Bofinger and Symmes have purchased from Capt. John Labarge the steamer War Eagle, for $8,500.

—Capt. Green B. McDonald, of Louisville, has been elected General Superintendent of the Mississippi Valley Navigation Company (De Haven's.)

—The Vicksburg and St. Louis packets refuse to carry the mail between the mouth of White River and Vicksburg on the old terms, and Capt. John Davis is after the contract.

—A Louisville telegram under date of Monday says: It was currently reported on the streets that the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company is about to change hands, and the company are laying their boats up as fast as they arrive at St. Louis. The Dexter came over to the Portland wharf to-day to load for New Orleans. The Mary Houston is due on Thursday.

Senator Ross has explained his recent visit to the President and on his coloring the scene appears not half so exciting as was pictured by the press reporters.

The Argentine Republic offers a reward of eight thousand dollars for the best process for the preservation of meat. Plans are to be sent in previous to September 1st, 1869. Here is a chance for our men of science to turn an honest penny.

Washington dispatches very generally agree in stating that the nomination of A. L. Russell, (not of Allegheny,) for Ecuador, was withdrawn at his own request, "because he found that he would not be confirmed." We may add that its rejection was quite certain before the withdrawal was "requested."

The latest Mormon movement is in the revival of an early revelation, known as the Order of Enoch, which inculcates the communism of property. Every good Mormon is exhorted to divide with the Church, as administered by its President, Young. As to any division by him, the revelation is discreetly dumb. The present movement is a bit of Mormon strategy for the more effectual resistance to Gentile inroads, under the later Gentile revelation of railway enlightenment.

It is stated that the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad has passed into the control of receivers, and that Mr. Jay Gould is one of them. The financial pressure upon the broad-guage concern is attributed to the refusal of the Erie to make good its own engagements for the redemption of certain evidences of debt. The indications are that, when the Erie game has been fully played through, with the Atlantic Company, the property of the latter will have somewhat less value than that of a pair of empty oyster shells.

It is quite safe to say that there can be not even the shadow of truth, in the sensational rumors, from Washington, of war-like talk between our Government and the representative of Spain. These rumors invariably expand into a variety of details which betray so complete an ignorance of public law, of diplomatic usage, of National precedents, of the actual facts, and of all ordinary commonsense, as to stamp them with the flagrant mark of home manufacture, by a reporter in a New York attic, coining his own absurd inventions into Washington telegrams for a credulous public.

There was a single exception to the otherwise unanimous feeling of satisfaction with which the Republicans of Philadelphia, last year, accepted the ticket nominated under the new convention system. One of the candidates named had been so intimately identified with local differences, independent of politics, in preceding years, that his opponents within the party absolutely declined to support his nomination. His withdrawal, subsequently, was a generous acknowledgement of this personal element in the difficulty, and not a concession of any objections to the system which had been adopted.

Hon. Charles A. Dana, the able and accomplished editor of the New York Sun, declines the appointment tendered to him by the Secretary of the Treasury of Appraiser of the Port of New York, although the Secretary requested his acceptance of it as a personal favor. Mr. Dana alleges as his reason for not accepting, that he "already holds an office of responsibility as the conductor of an independent newspaper," to abandon which would be "to leave a superior duty for one of much less importance." It is evident that he ranks among the few journalists who properly appreciate the position they occupy. With his brain, nerve and ability, Mr. Dana can feel as truly independent in his sanctum as he would in the highest office of the land.

The current fiscal year, of the National Treasury, closes with the end of June. The revenue receipts to this date considerably exceed the estimates of last Autumn, and encourage the belief that the expected total of $150,000,000 will be swelled by some ten millions more. The internal revenue service scarcely yet feels the influence of the reforms to be inaugurated under the new Administration. Hardly five per cent. of the new Assessors, Collectors, Supervisors and the subordinate personnel of the service, have fairly entered upon their official duties. But we are already gaining in revenue, through the apprehensions which inspire Mr. Johnson's surviving office-holders with a novel but wholesome caution. When the service has been thoroughly purged of its old officials, and the new men get fairly to work, we shall have good reason to anticipate a large increase in the receipts.

Miss Maria L. Sanford is a school teacher in Chester county. She has given evidence of a high order of talent, a well cultured mind and extraordinary executive ability. Her name is presented for the Superintendency of Common Schools of that county, and it is within the range of probabilities that she will be honored with election. The question will then arise, should the salary hitherto paid to a man for discharging the onerous duties of the place be awarded a woman? If the answer is to be dictated out of the prevailing sentiment which permeates Boards of School Directors as well as many other bodies, it will certainly be in the negative. By peculiar reasoning the illogical conclusion is generally arrived at that woman, because she is woman, should not be awarded equal remuneration with man in the educational department of labor. Here, in our own city, we know many young ladies of superior qualities and attainments who are wasting away their young lives in the slavery of the class-room, at salaries so slim and beggarly that we would blush to name them. As a class they are worse paid than any other, not even excepting the thrifty and industrious sewing women, in whose cause the song of the shirt forever rings out its music to no avail. Teachers should receive more consideration and be rewarded with such liberal prices for their professional services as to place them above pinching want and genteel poverty. Their minds should be free and buoyant in the class room so that out of their own cheerfulness they can impart it to the bright galaxy of youth surrounding them. There is no better method of securing the condition than by paying them fair wages and making them feel that as arduous, soul-trying and tedious as their duties are, they are not unappreciated in the estimation of those by whom they are employed.

RAILWAY COMFORTS.

Now that the Union Pacific Railroad is about completed, the question arises how are the passengers to endure the long and tedious trip across the plains. After one hundred miles are accomplished in railway traveling, the pleasure wears away and the remaining portion of the journey becomes fatiguing and painful. Think of the hardships to be endured in a trip straight through from Pittsburgh to San Francisco, sitting bolt upright in a close car in which thirty or forty other uncompanionable persons are stored away. It would be utterly exhausting under the present plan of railway carriages, and would tax the physical powers of the strongest beyond endurance. But the inventive genius of America will soon surmount the difficulty and furnish cars which will break the monotony of the trip and render it pleasant and agreeable. It has been suggested that carriages with promenades on the roofs be adopted as the first innovation. Across the plains, at least as far as Ogden, there are no covered bridges or tunnels to render such an improvement impracticable, and it could be adopted with trifling cost. There are hundreds of other ideas which suggest themselves for the comfort of travelers by rail, many of which, we have no doubt, will find favor and appreciation in the course of time.

Last summer a party of thirty editors started on an excursion to Benton, and so comfortably were they made, and their well being so well looked after, that, although in that short space of three weeks they got over nearly four thousand miles of railroad track, they were all improved by the jaunt, and some had gained avoirdupois weight from the journey. The trip simply proved that comforts and conveniences in travel contribute largely to its enjoyment, for had it been made under less favorable auspices, or in the ordinary manner, hardly one of the party would have been robust enough to have safely weathered such an extended tour.

We can see in the near future a reform in the style of railway carriages. The competition which will arise for passenger traffic between the railroads and steamships on the completion of the route over the plains, will force the introduction of improvement in that direction to remove the rough edges of railway travel. Innovations made in the west will be adopted by the east, and the managers of roads throughout the country will find that their prosperity will be in proportion to the regard manifested for the comfort and convenience of passengers.

THE LIZZIE MAJOR.

At thirty miles distance from the Cuban coast, a Spanish armed ship overhauled the Lizzie Major, an American merchantman, flying the American flag, and forcibly removed from her two Cuban passengers. This act was clearly a gross and inexcusable breach of international law, for which our Government demands the most complete reparation. The men must be restored, the flag saluted and the insult apologized for. We have asked from Spain, in this case, what England exacted from this Republic in the Trent affair, of Mason and Slidell. It is to be presumed that this reparation will be made promptly. When Spain shall hesitate, or shall altogether decline to make it, will be time enough for our resort to the legal and justifiable recourse of arms. At present, the reply of the Spanish government is waited for.

VIRGINIA POLITICS.

The election in Virginia will be ordered for next month. The politics of the State present no one main issue upon which its people are generally divided, but, rather, offer such an heterogenous medley of personal strifes, local quarrels, and of disagreements upon minor and collateral points of State policy, as altogether to baffle any judgment upon their merits, among outside observers. It is apparently conceded on all sides that the new Constitution should be adopted. But there will be separate votes upon three of its sections, one or all of which may be defeated. There will be three or four distinct tickets for the State offices, while, for Congress and for the local positions, the hustings will swarm with numberless aspirants in the good old Virginia style.

The Radicals, under Governor Wells, will depend upon the colored vote for their principal strength. The moderate Republicans aim to build up their party among the white citizens as well. The Conservatives will labor for a reconstructed State on the basis of universal suffrage and universal amnesty. The unregenerate rebels sneer at the whole business, and swear they will have nothing to do with it. There are indications that the Conservatives will unite with the moderate Republicans, upon a State ticket, and the Constitution without its test oath, which shuts rebels out of office, and its disabling clause which excludes rebel office-holders from the ballot altogether. If that fusion should take place, it will win.

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON COLLEGE.

Western Pennsylvania has reason to be proud of all her educational institutions, and more especially of the old and time honored Washington and Jefferson Colleges. For long years these have steadily kept pace with the times and furnished society here and elsewhere with many of its most accomplished members. Recently the two institutions were consolidated in order to render them more powerful to do good under one control and management. The College buildings, apart from each other seven miles, one being located at Canonsburg and the other at Washington, were not abandoned when the consolidation was consummated, and for several years an experiment, attended with the most unsatisfactory results, has been tried to carry on the College at the two places. This course impeded the good fruits expected to follow the union, and had to be abandoned as not only impracticable but prejudicial to the interests of the College. After it was announced that the Board of Trustees had determined on abandoning one of their College places, great rivalry sprang up between Canonsburg and Washington for the honor of retention. Both places had much to recommend them, and after a prolonged contest, the thriving and enterprising borough of Washington was yesterday awarded the honor. Its location, health, society and easy access were strong arguments in its favor, and we feel assured that the consolidated Colleges will be more than ever prosperous under one roof at Washington, and will continue, as they have in the past, to successfully work out the grand mission of education undertaken.

SENATORIAL DIGNITY.

We hear from Washington that "several Senators would like to get rid of the trouble and vexation which minor offices now give them." This is not improbable. A large number of very inconsiderate people have been unable to perceive any good reason why such major offices as those of Senators, Governors, Foreign Ministers and so on, should be the only offices worth seeking for, or even why Senators, who have themselves spent years in assiduous quest of the offices they have at last secured, should thus try to evade the resulting duties of their position. Judge Trumbull "denounces the whole system of office-getting," and gives notice of some ferocious proposition with which, at another session, he will lay his axe at the root of the terribly inconvenient mischief.

This is not the way these gentlemen talked when they were moving Heaven and earth, (some of them move still another dominion, on such occasions) with their respective Legislatures, to secure their own elections to the Senate. Judge Trumbull, himself, has left a record of this sort at Springfield, which, it is said, should forever close his Senatorial mouth upon such petty and undignified complaints. Nor has he probably a worse record in that line than have nine-tenths of the American Senators. The less these gentlemen have to say, in the way of complaint against their office-seeking constituents, the better for their own modest consistency. Or, would they have all the world to understand that Senators receive their own official honors by some divine right, which precludes all need for vulgar electioneering, such as common people must resort to, in the quest of paltry place? If that is the Senatorial idea, these high-minded gentlemen must have remarkably short memories.

CAMERON AND CURTIN.

The nomination of Ex-Gov. Curtin, for the Russian Mission, was unanimously confirmed by the Senate. It was not opposed in the Committee to which it was at first referred, no speeches were made against it in the Senate, and not a vote was recorded, from any quarter, as the proof of any existing personal and political dissatisfaction. Senator Cameron made no assault upon the nominee, and Senator Scott was not "brought out," by such assaults, to defend him.

This statement of the precise facts is due as well to the nominee, as to each of the two Senators from Pennsylvania. A very few journals in this State have been industriously falsifying the record in this matter, purely for the gratification of a private hate, which has not hesitated to detract from the popularity of Ex-Gov. Curtin in aiming a blow at Messrs. Cameron and Scott. With what degree of success they have continued to conceal their own malignant disregard of truth, may be judged of from the fact that one of the journals alluded to, editorially charging Senator Cameron with "a fierce and bitter assault" upon the nomination, published, the same day and in another column of the same issue, the following "special dispatch:"

STATEMENT FROM SENATOR CAMERON.

Washington, April 17.—Senator Cameron authorizes an unqualified denial of the published statements of his opposition, in Executive session, to the confirmation of Ex-Governor Curtin to the Russian Mission. He made no opposition to a favorable report by the Foreign Relations Committee. When the subject came up in the Senate, he did not, as stated, make a bitter speech against Mr. Curtin, but said that while Gov. Curtin was not recommended by the Representatives of his State, and, in his opinion, was not the choice of the Republican party of the State, yet as he had been nominated by the President he should not oppose his nomination nor vote against it. He made no assault upon Governor Curtin's character, as alleged. He did not call for a division, and none was taken, either standing or otherwise, and there is consequently no truth in the story that some sixteen or seventeen Senators voted against Curtin's nomination.

Our Canadian neighbors don't like the speech of Senator Sumner, on the Alabama question. The Montreal Gazette makes, however, a tolerably fair hit in the following:

"While Mr. Sumner was so very bitter against the British Government because it, in common with others, recognized the fact of belligerency, he had no word of thanks for its refusal to accede to the request of France to recognize the independence of the South after the battle of Fredericksburg. Had England yielded to the solicitation of Napoleon on that occasion, the whole face of this continent would now be changed, and Mr. Sumner would not talk in his present tone."

BUTLER HOMICIDE TRIAL.

grey-haired man, with delicate features and benevolent blue eyes. The prisoner is his nephew and was brought up in his family. The prosecuting attorney, John Grier, is a young practitioner, but is assisted by E. McJunkin, one of the oldest and ablest lawyers at the Butler bar; but there is a very evident desire on the part of Judge Maguffin and the prosecution to confine the rigor of the law within its closest limits. I notice in looking at those men called up as jurors that the best faces and the most intellectual heads, are on the shoulders of those men who have conscientious scruples about the death penalty, and I have no doubt that in one hundred years the people will look back upon such trials as this as we now look back to the New England trials for witchcraft.

The County Superintendent of Common Schools being impannelled on the jury, he went in charge of a tipstave to visit Judge Maguffin, on last evening, and got permission to postpone a published meeting of the County Board. Leave was granted and the disconsolate Superintendent retired to his lodgings in close custody, hoping his wife would hear of his whereabouts.

THE ARRAIGNMENT.

On Tuesday morning the Court met at 8½ o'clock, with a full bench. The prisoner was brought in by the Sheriff. The roll of nine was called and all answered. The Sheriff gave in the names of talesmen, many of whom had been secured by making a descent on the Farmers' Club, during its meeting in the Court House. After many challenges by the defense, the pannel was filled at half-past nine. John H. Cratty, School Superintendent, is foreman. Thos. Martin, Joseph Hamilton, Joseph Lane, David Kelly, Conrad Myers, John Shallatree, William Allen, John G. Christy, John K. McQuistian, Isaac Farnsner, Robert Duncan—six of them farmers, two merchants, one blacksmith and one carpenter. The defence appeared to prefer young men and several times peremptorily challenged most respectable middle aged men. The only gray-haired man on the jury is Robert Duncan.

When they were all sworn in and the roll called, the Clerk of Court read to them that frightful indictment, in which the Grand Jury "charge upon their oaths and affirmations, that he, the said Zachary Taylor Hockenburry, aforesaid, did make an assault with a pistol, of the value of one dollar, charged with twenty-five leaden shot, and of his malice aforethought, feloniously did kill and murder the said Mary Ann McCandless, contrary to the act of assembly and against the peace of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," and in which they keep on and on, saying exactly the same thing over and over and over again, until one concludes they never will stop, and can show no good reason why they ever should have come to an end. Sometimes they charge that "then and there he held the pistol aforesaid in his right hand," then in his left hand, then in both his hands, and keep up the song of aforesaid, the twenty-five leaden slugs, and every other term used, until it is all gone over as many times as there were slugs. It is singular that, in this age of progress, our courts continue to waste time in these senseless repetitions. The reading of the indictment occupied a half hour, and all that is in it could have been written on one page of foolscap.

OPENING OF THE CASE.

The case was opened by W. H. Riddle, who gave a clear account of the murder and the circumstances which point to the prisoner as the guilty party. During the recital of the shocking details, Hockenburry was in such evident distress that he was a pitiable spectacle. His features are heavy, and of rather a sensual and stolid type, but still would contradict such cowardly depravity as is laid to his charge. His face and neck and hands were purple a greater part of the time of Mr. Riddle's speech. Sometimes I think him in danger of apoplexy, and if the prosecution succeed in fastening the crime upon him, there are features in his case which must cut him off from the romantic interest which surrounds distracted lovers.

THE TESTIMONY.

The father of the murdered girl was called to the stand, and did not know her age exactly. She was between twenty-one and twenty-five years old. She had always lived at home. He said: She came to her death on the evening of the 3d of November, 1868, between seven and eight o'clock, by a shot fired through the window, while we were at supper; we had had just begun to eat; the shot shocked me; I put my hand to my head, found blood on my head, and a slight wound in the back and on the top of the head, near the side next my daughter Nancy; she was inclined to one side; I did not know that she was hurt, but thought it was myself, until my daughter Mary called out "Ann's shot;" mother got around to her first and raised her head; it was all bleeding; I noticed blood on the top of her head; I put my hand on her head to see if the bone was broken, and found it was; I looked down into her face, and I saw the wound; I saw it was fatal; I went to the door and hissed the dog; he went round the house to the side where the murderer had been, but would not bark; he came back and seemed to feel that he would not bother; I did not know what to do; there was no one there but our family and Mrs. Graham; I was sitting at the end of the table with my back to the door; my daughter Nancy was on my right hand; Mary was opposite me; my wife and Mrs. Graham opposite Nancy Ann, who was on my left hand; I noticed on the floor the piece that Nancy had been eating; by the time I got up and round to her she was falling on the floor; her mother was holding up her head; I did not see her breathe afterward and saw that it was death; the room is about twelve by sixteen; the table was near the centre; I noticed afterward that the shot came at an angle, and some struck the door; the shots struck her on the left side of the head and on the top, tearing the flesh on the top and making a large hole in the left temple; there were numerous shots on the sides of the head. The doctors can tell you easier than I. I saw she was gone and left her to see if I could find the murderer. That evening my two daughters and I went to an orchard I have at some distance. We succeeded in getting a pretty good load of apples. The girls got some of the larger ones to pare; the small ones were for cider. We were pretty late getting home; I said we would not bring them in that night, but one of the girls, it was Nancy Ann, said we had better bring in the bags before supper; I said I would if she would get a candle; she did, and held it on the end of the porch. Mary climbed on the wagon and helped me to get the bags on my shoulder and I took them in, soon after the moon got above the trees; supper was ready soon after. While we were taking in the apples we heard a quick step, and some one said there was some one going to church; it was Mary said this. The road is so near the house that one can easily hear one walk in the road. There is an inclosure around the house. On the north side, next the road, the fence is low, so that one can step over it; from the road to the window into which the shot was fired it is about a rod; the ground rises from the house to the road. There is a level walk about two feet close to the house, made to keep the damp off. The shot came through the middle part of the lower sash. I noticed my wife was saying, "Oh, God, who has murdered my child?" I went for to hunt some person for to help, they were so distressed there; I went to Mr. Barkley's; his house is to the eastward; I did not stay long; I left the gun and revolver with the family, and told them to use them should anything occur; I took one with me; Mr. Barkley came first; the news soon spread, for the people were coming from church, and I went out and told them that murder had been committed. An inquest was held next morning; the prisoner was arrested before I knew it; Mr. Fligger, the constable, brought him to our house. [Prisoner's counsel objected to asking witness what the prisoner said when brought there. The Court ruled that he might describe the manner of the prisoner.] He appeared as if he did not want to go near the dead person; he had been familiar in the family; did not go near him; he was much excited, but appeared to bear up very strong against it. Mr. Shaner asked him if he had been at preaching last night, and he said he was.

Cross-examined—Was in the east room at breakfast when the prisoner was brought in; he was in charge of Mr. Hillier; there was a great deal said to him that I did not hear; cannot tell his age; suppose he is somewhere about twenty-one; he did not hear any one say to Taylor to be careful what he said; he would not say that he had heard any one say that it would be better for him to tell all the truth about the matter; he did not propose to say that he heard all that was said to prisoner; he was brought into the room where witness was, and staid until he was taken into the room where the dead body lay; did not remember that he said anything before he was taken into that room; recalled part of what he said when he was in that room; Mr. Wilson, his guardian, said to him that any man might be taken up on suspicion; that now he must prove where he had been.

Then counsel argued for half an hour as to whether witness should tell him what Squire Shaner had asked him. Witness was often confused, but without any contradiction in his statements. Could not tell whether his declarations to Squire Shaner were before or after this statement of his guardian. Here the Court adjourned for dinner.

RESUMPTION OF THE TRIAL.

At two o'clock the Court was opened. Mr. Diffenbaugh was permitted to speak to Mr. Farnsner, who wished to give directions about some of his business at home. The examination of Mr. McCandless was resumed. Mr. McJunkin withdrew for the present the question about the prisoner's declarations in the house, after his arrest. He exhibited the sash through which the fatal shot was fired, and gave it as his opinion that the shot must have been fired close to the window, on the walk before described. It is about one and a half miles from his house to that of Daniel Graham, where the prisoner lived at the time of the murder. The nearest road is through the woods, and one going from his house to Mr. Graham's could go quite up to the barn without being seen from Mr. Graham's house. Muddy Creek runs between the two houses, and the Franklin road lies between Mr. Graham's house and a barn. The prisoner came to live with witness in '61, and lived with him until he went to Mr. Graham's, except some short periods, when he went to Oil Creek to look for work, but he was soon back. It is two years since he went to live with Mr. Graham; had been in the habit of visiting in witness' family during that time, especially on Sabbath; he lived with witness as a farm hand, according to agreement with his guardian; was treated as a member of the family; went to church with them regularly, to Muddy Creek Church.

PREVIOUS ATTEMPTS TO MURDER.

Witness was asked to state the circumstances of some firing done in his house on a former occasion. Defence objected and stated in writing their object, viz., to prove a previous attempt upon the life of Miss McCandless by the prisoner. The defence objected on the ground that this assumed a distinct act, for which the prisoner was not indicted, and for which he could not be called upon to answer under the present charge. The Court suggested that the prosecution had not stated whether the guns were loaded. The correction was made, and the Court overruled the objection. Mr. McCandless then stated that in June—three years ago next June—a man raised the window sash exhibited in Court, reached in and opened the door, went through a little hall and fired a gun over the bed in which both his daughters slept; the ball struck near a clock by the head of the bed, and Mary sat up in bed and said, "they are in the house!" Ann said "lay down;" she did so, and just then a second shot was fired, both shots crossed just over the girls' heads, about six inches above them; before firing each time the person firing said "boo, boo!" The first shot woke witness, and he thought the firing was out of doors; at the second, he sprang out of bed, got his gun, which was without a load, and gave chase to the unseen person, who fled before him, and showed great skill and ease in getting out of the house, notwithstanding it was so dark that witness ran against the table, which stood in the center of the room through which they passed; witness did not know that the gun had been loaded until afterwards. When Hockenburry was visiting his house; they were talking of the matter; prisoner said he could show witness where the balls had gone into the wall. The wall was papered and had small dark spots, which made it difficult to see the holes; witness did not then suspect prisoner, and did not believe that there had been balls in the gun, until a young man dug a ball out of one of the holes. It was a revolver ball; prisoner is not a man of many words, and pointed out the places where the balls had struck. They were talking of this mysterious shooting in another room, when prisoner said to witness "Come, I can show you where the balls struck;" then went in and pointed out the holes; does not remember talking with the prisoner on the subject before the time of showing him the holes in the wall; does not remember that prisoner had been in the house after the shooting and before the time of pointing out the holes; prisoner knew where each member of the family slept; he had been in the same place, and the girls slept in that place when prisoner lived in the family. When the person firing thus in the dark said "boo, boo!" witness thought the voice familiar. He is not so certain of hearing the "boo, boo" before the first shot, but the second "boo, boo" was very plain and very terrifying when quickly followed by the shot; did not follow the retreating footsteps out of doors. The night was very dark and he had no load in his gun.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

Mr. McJunkin then asked witness to state particulars of another transaction in his family six weeks before the murder. Defense objected, when he stated in writing that he proposed to prove by witness that some person had come to his house while he was in church on Sabbath, and while only the deceased and an aged lady were there; that this person had broken open the door, was disguised and armed with a hatchet and pistols, and that the person was the prisoner, who had designed to murder deceased at that time. Defense stated in writing that witness was incompetent to prove what occurred in his house while he was in church three miles distant. Court directed the prosecution to amend the motion. This was done, and some technical change made some sparring by the attorneys, and Mr. McCandless was required to state what took place in his house six weeks before the murder. On that day, witness, his wife and daughter Mary went to preaching, leaving Nancy and an aged woman in the house; when he came home he was told that some one had forcibly entered his house; he found that the front door had been forced open by some instrument which had been thrust between the door and pannel; some one had tried to force the lock of the bureau; he believed that the instrument in both cases was a hatchet; he went to church in an open farm wagon; he started about nine o'clock in the morning and returned about four o'clock in the afternoon; his barn was burned; it was about two weeks after the shooting in his house, and it was but a few days after the burning of the barn that the prisoner showed him the holes in the wall; the putty was picked off a pane of glass in another window the night the barn was burned; he thought the person wanted to get his arm in to unlock a door on the opposite side of the house from that by which the person entered who did the firing; he discovered his barn on fire about ten o'clock, and the next morning found this trace of an attempt at a second forcible entry.

Cross-examined—By Mr. Thompson. There was no fire about the barn. Did you suspect one of your neighbors, who was there the night of the burning your barn? He did suspect this neighbor, Oliver Keyser, of burning his barn, and thought it might be he who did the shooting. He heard that Oliver K. had threatened him with a suit for slander. He did own the land on which the barn stood and the barn. Oliver K. married witness' wife's sister and there was a bad feeling between them; there was a barn burned in his neighborhood, belonging to his brother, before his barn was burned, and he got into a libel suit in Butler about the burning of that barn. It is not a mile from the nearest point of woods to Daniel Graham's house; it would be about twenty-five rods from Mr. Graham's house to the timber; it might be eighty rods or forty rods; the Franklin road is a good deal traveled; he did not know that Taylor had been in his house after the shooting; had examined the marks in the wall with his daughters before he pointed them out to witness.

Was any member of your family absent with whom you had a family difficulty?

Question objected to as not cross-examination. Court ruled that the question might be asked to contradict witness, who very distinctly stated his disbelief of balls in the shooting, because he knew of no enemy who might wish to injure him, and on this ground held to his disbelief even after the prisoner had pointed out the holes in the wall, and until a young man had dug them out and showed them to him. The object of defence in asking if the witness had not a son-in-law with whom he had a serious family difficulty, who was insane, was stated in writing, and that the object was to contradict witness, and lay the grounds for his contradiction. Prosecution objected on the ground that it is was not cross-examination, and was the introduction of new and distinct matter of defence. After some debate the Court consented to the asking of the question. He answered that he had a son-in-law named James Garrin; he heard he was insane and knew he was not right; he brought his daughter home on account of his bad usage; he could not say that he was displeased with him; he was angry with his wife, but did not show any anger towards the prisoner; understood that Garrin wanted him to deed fifty acres of land to him; he did not know that Garrin blamed him for throwing stones at his house; does not deny that he brought his daughter away from her husband; she had taken legal course; there was no outfall between witness and Garrin; his bad usage was the cause of taking her away from him. Did not know that he was crazy before she left him, but was crazy afterwards; lived in the neighborhood after she left; heard that the Overseers of the Poor brought him from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. Objected. Taylor is his wife's nephew. There was very little trouble between the prisoner and witness' family. The first year he received board, clothing and schooling. When he grew older he went to seek his fortune, and he knew of no quarrel up to the time of the murder. After the barn was burned he raised another, and Taylor was at the raising and helped with the work. He was often there after the man came with the false face; came to visit them as usual; was generally invited to remain and eat with the family.

Examination in chief resumed. James Garrin had left the neighborhood before the burning of the barn, and he was not in the neighborhood; I inquired, and no such person was about; never saw anything to make me think he was my enemy; did not suspect prisoner until after the door was broken open on Sabbath; he suspected him about a week after that event.

TRUSSES AND HERNIA,

The sad and deplorable condition of many who are afflicted with hernia or rupture of the bowels, calls loudly for some efficient and unmistakable remedy that will not only in every case give efficient relief, but in many cases effect a radical and thorough cure. These cases of hernia have become so frequent, that it is computed that one-sixth of the male population are said to be troubled, in some way or another, with this terrible ailment; and in very many cases do not know where to apply for an appropriate remedy, oftentimes not knowing whether an appliance is really needed or not; and if it should be needed, they often do not know where or to whom they should make application. The world is full of Trusses for the retention and cure of this lamentable evil, oftentimes an incontestable proof of their total and inadequate fitness to relieve the sufferer. This need not be; Dr. Keyser, at his new medicine store, No. 167 Liberty street, is abundantly supplied with every appliance, needful to the retention and relief of this terrible affliction, so that every one can be properly fitted at a moderate cost, with the full assurance that the appliance is the best that the mechanical department of surgery can afford. The Doctor has pursued the investigation of hernia with more than ordinary care for over thirty years, so that the afflicted can place implicit reliance on his skill and integrity with the full assurance that they will not only get the best truss, suitable to the case, but likewise a thorough and efficient knowledge of its proper application.

There are many persons who not only sacrifice their health, but even their lives, for want of a proper truss, or a truss properly applied. Strangulated and irreducable rupture, is a far more common ailment now than in former years; and may we not justly arrive at the conclusion, that its frequency is often occasioned by the neglect and carelessness of the sufferers themselves. No one would be regarded as sane or excusable who would go for a whole winter without the proper clothing to shield them from the inclemency of the weather, but, at the same time, it is thought a light affair to suffer for years with a protrusion that not only subjects the person to inconvenience, but even places life itself in jeopardy. Those of our readers who may be unfortunate to need appliances of this kind cannot act more wisely than to cut this advertisement out and preserve it, so as to enable them to retain the place where such important preservers of life and health are to be procured.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1869. }

Gold was very firm and had had advanced to-day to 134¾, but at the close it sold down to 134⅜. The uneasy feeling in regard to the Alabama affair and our differences with the Spanish rule in Cuba, is used by speculators, and especially by foreign bankers, for the purpose of advancing exchange by means of putting up the price of gold, and forcing down Government bonds in order to supply themselves at low rates in anticipation of an increased demand for shipment. It is true, there is sufficient ground to move along cautiously in financial operations and especially those who are dealing in foreign goods, a war with England is not an improbable matter: either England's peers have to retract or our Government has to assume a less menacing tone.

Government bonds advanced yesterday morning about one half per cent., but on lower quotations from Europe declined fully one per cent., and closed better; at this afternoon session the demand for bonds increased, and a general advance took place exceeding any former quotations.

Stocks are strong and higher, and are gaining in strength with the increased ease of the money market.

NEW YORK, April 21, 1869.

Money is in liberal supply and fair demand at 7 per cent. on call. Currency is flowing here quite freely, and new bank statements having been called for by the Comptroller will probably expand again. Discounts at 9@10 per cent. for best names. Sterling is firm at 8⅜@8½ for sixty days, and 9@9⅛ for sight. Bond bills are in better supply. Gold is firm; opened at 134⅜, advanced to 134⅝ and fell to the opening rate, and closed at 134½@134⅝. Rates paid for borrowing 3-32 to flat. Clearances $150,000,000. The Holsatia, from Europe, brought $170,000, and the Arizona, from Aspinwall, brought $532,000.

Governments are strong, active and higher. The Germans continue to be the buyers, and being unable to reach large blocks, quietly take the odd lots as they find them. Every steamer takes out round amounts, the heaviest shipments being 67s, as earlier issues cannot be had. The short interest is daily increasing and there was a larger borrowing demand to-day than ever before. Those bonds loaned on the street have nearly all been actually sold abroad and forwarded as fast as bills can be sold against them. No bonds are coming from the country, and operators here are indisposed to sell; higher prices are therefore predicted: Coupons of '81, 117½@117¾; do. '62, 121@121½; do. '64, 116¼@116⅜; do. '65, 118@118¼; do. new, 115¼@115⅝; do. '67, 115¼@115⅜; do., '68, 115¼@115⅜; 10-40s, 106⅛@106¼; Pacific Sixes, 104¾@105.

State bonds firmer, with an advance on Missouris, New Tennessees and North Carolinas. Missouris, 82¼@87½; old Tennessees, 69¾@70, and new do., 68½@68¾; old Virginias, 58¾@59½, and new do. 61⅜@62; old North Carolinas, 61@61¼, and new 54@54¼; Louisiana levee sixes, 70½@72.

—The Stock market during the forenoon was active and advancing, and the highest quotations were made about noon, when New York Central sold at 167⅝, Hudson 149½, Reading 96¾, Northwestern, common, 84⅝, and preferred 96⅞, Ohio and Mississippi 33⅞, Western Union Telegraph 33⅜, Pacific Mail 94¼, Mariposa preferred 44¼, Adams Express 63⅝, Wells Express 34¾, American 42¾, and United States 70. Subsequently there was a reaction under the pressure to sell, and though Mariposa stood at 45, Western Union Telegraph at 44 and Adams Express at 64; these were exceptions; the market was less buoyant and generally lower. Later in the day the decline became general, though in New York roads it was comparatively light, and at the close everything was weak.

5:30 prices,—Cumberland, 30¼@33¼; Wells Express, 33¾@34⅛; American Express, 41¾@42⅜; Adams Express, 63¼; United States Express, 67½@68; Merchants Union Express, 16⅛@16½; Quicksilver, 22⅝@22¾; Canton, 62¼@63; Mariposa, 22¾@22⅞; preferred, 44@44⅞; Hartford and Erie, 22½; New York Central, 166⅜@166½; Erie, 34@34⅛; do preferred, 52½@55; Hudson, 149@149¼; Harlem, 141¾; preferred, 143; Reading, 95@95¼; Alton, 156@157; preferred, 156@158; Pacific Mail, 93⅜@93½; Terre Haute, 40½@41⅛; Wabash, 71½@71¾; preferred, 82@82¼; St. Paul, 78⅜@78½; preferred, 86⅛@86⅜; Fort Wayne, 132@132¾; Ohio & Mississippi, 33⅜@33⅝; Michigan Central, 128@130; Michigan Southern, 98⅛@98⅝; Illinois Central, 145@146½; Pittsburgh, 93@93¼; Lake Shore, 98½@98¾; Rock Island, 137⅞@137½; North Western, 84¼@84½; preferred; 96⅜@96½; C. PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1869. }

Business, generally is quiet and devoid of anything new or important. There is a continued fair local demand for most of the leading articles and a fair volume of business in the aggregate, while in values there are no important changes. Complaints are still being made about the difficulty in making collections, and the feeling against the credit system is becoming stronger every day; cash buyers can purchase anything at a remarkably small advance on cost, while those who buy on time, familiarly termed "long-winded buyers," have to pay for their accommodations.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The dry goods market continues inert and quite panicky, especially for woolen goods. It is enough to give one instance of the demoralized condition of this market. Last week a commission house sold a line of fine woolen goods in double width as low as one dollar and fifty cents, which are now being jobbed at two dollars and fifty cents; if the purchasers note is good any offer is now sure to command lines of these goods. In Cotton fabrics we hereby append most of the noticeable changes: Lawrence D 36-inch Brown Muslins sell at 15c; do. E, 14c; do. M 31-inch, 12½c; Suffolk H 36-inch Shirtings, 10c; Grantville, R R ⅞ Brown, 13c; Tremont E, do, do., 10c; Ballou & Son ⅞ Muslins, 12c; Rockdale, 4-4 do. sell at 14½@15c; Clark's 4-4, 21c; Ballou & Son do, 14c, and Union Checks, No. 20, 2-2, 22½c.

STEUBENVILLE ITEMS.

[Correspondence of the the Pittsburgh Gazette.]
STEUBENVILLE, O., April 19, 1869.

EDITORS GAZETTE: Knowing that correspondence is at all welcome in your columns, I concluded to "put in time" by furnishing you with such news as I could gather in my tramps about town. The first item to mention is that of the many improvements going on, particularly in the way of construction of buildings. The city is putting up a new school building at the corner of Fourth street and Adams, which will be quite a commodity. Morris' new building on Fourth street is a decided change. Hinds, who was at one time your agent, occupies one of the storerooms in this building as a fancy confectionery and grocery establishment. Jimmy is an energetic fellow and will succeed in his new business.

Mr. Joseph C. Doyle is erecting a splendid dwelling on the same street. Wm. Denmead, Esq., is also building an elegant residence, and when completed the cost will be at least $20,000. Other buildings are going up, in the upper portion of the town particularly. The Street Commissioner had done a good thing by relieving Market and other streets of quantities of mud. Mayor Love, who was inaugurated last week, is fulfilling his promises to the citizens of Steubenville by giving the rogues who infest this quiet town their deserts. Bob did it when he was on the police force, and does not go back on his word.

Reed, of the Postoffice, who was favored recently by a complimentary vote, is anxiously awaiting his documents from U. S. G., and I hope his expectations will be realized. Mr. Filson, the present Postmaster, as well as Mr. Reed, and assistants, are most agreeable officials.

Reed's Seminary has been reconstructed, and with its bright coat of paint presents an attractive appearance. The number of scholars is as large as ever.

The Third Street Seminary is doing well under the Principalship of Miss Eliza McCracken. In September last the first number of the "Third Street Seminary Press" was issued. The paper in question is gotten up entirely by the teachers and scholars of the school. The velocipede mania has taken hold of the young men here. I notice but few of the bycicle order. The three wheeled machines are more in vogue. In time, no doubt the bycicular affairs will become more popular. The Sefton Troupe (many of the members of which, especially Annie and Joe, are known to your readers) gave several dramatic performances at Kilgore Hall. Sam Sharpley's Iron Clads are announced for one night only (Tuesday, 20th) at Kilgore Hall. Sam has an excellent troupe, and as he is a perfect wit himself there will be a big house to greet them. They go to Pittsburgh from here. Cooper, Hemmings & Whitby's Circus is billed for an early appearance.

The Petrolia, formerly of the Allegheny river trade, is now a regular packet between East Liverpool and Steubenville, making regular trips.

In this connection I would return thanks to Captain Moore and Bunting M. Moore, Clerk, of the "Bayard," for favors shown your correspondent on the trip from the "Smoky City" to this place. I venture to say that expresses the sentiments of other travelers on this boat.

It is excessively warm here and spring fever has set in, especially in my case.

Yours, WANDERER.

The Recent Aurora.

The recent appearance of the Aurora Borealis has attracted so much attention that a popular view of the phenomenon in its scientific aspect, may be interesting to those who saw its late display.

The Aurora Borealis is so called from the fact that its appearance is more frequent, more vivid and more lasting, as we approach the pole. Indeed, it occurs at the southern pole as well as the northern, and it is surmised that the appearance is simultaneous at each; but though it has been seen in the United States, on the Southern horizon, its usual presence in the North justifies the popular name.

In the tropics, it is seen but a few times in the century; in our latitude, ten or twelve times a year; in the Canadas, far oftener; and as we approach the Arctic Zone, there are few nights in which it is not present in comparative splendor.

As we see it, it is always associated with a low, cloud-like, but transparent arch in the North, which precedes the display and from which the streamers rise. The position of the summit of this arch is fixed within very rude limits by the magnetic declination of the place; it is always present, and its appearance is nearly always the same. The aspect of the "streamers" is at the same time too varied and too familiar to justify description, though but few residents of the Middle States have an opportunity to see them in their beauty. Even a few degrees north of us, the writer well remembers more than one winter's night, when their color, of a rich pink, alternating with fainter green, was so intense as to be vividly reflected from the snow, over which rosy flushes ran in concert with the "dancers" that played above: from the horizon to beyond the zenith.

In the Arctic regions, their variety of color and play of light are said to be often indescribably splendid, and Humboldt quotes an observer who has seen them in bright sunshine.

The actual height of these streamers varies greatly. The companions of Scoresby in Arctic voyage maintain that they saw one shoot between them, and a point not two miles away; but their distance is commonly far greater.

The other night they seemed at times to pass just over our heads, like the puffs of smoke from neighbouring chimneys, and yet there is little doubt, that the nearest of them was fifty miles above us, and not impossibly ten times that; the light being generated in the rarer regions of the earths atmosphere, and its apparent nearness being an illusion, due to the immense rapidity of its motion.

As we are not writing for the purely scientific, we need not trouble the reader, with disquisitions on the nature of the phenomenon, further than to say that its occasion and production, has been clearly referred to the effects of terrestrial magnetism, and will be found abundantly explained in treatises on the subject.

Without going into its final causes, the evidence of electric disturbance accompanying the Aurora, is evident on the surface.

The streamers converge upon the point to which the dipping needle is directed; the delicately poised needles move in concert with them; on some rare occasions the Aurora has even seized the telegraph wires, and dictated dispatches, in a "cipher" unknown to the company or its agents, who are warned by lively shocks, to let the celestial operator take its own way.

We have spoken of the cause of the phenomenon, as fully understood, yet we ought to qualify this, by adding that science cannot assert its knowledge to be absolute, on this more than on any other form of terrestical magnetism.

For instance, the singular fact of the Auroras periodical growth and decrease through long series of years, is remarkable evidence that our information on this subject though extensive is not final, for these periods of change are connected in some way still utterly mysterious, with the fluctuations of sun-spots, and the revolutions of distant planets.

"What songs the Syrens sang or what name Achilles assumed when he hid himself among women," says Sir Thomas Browne, "though puzzling questions are not beyond all conjecture," and those who carry that learned physician's love for abtruse speculation into those nebulous regions where science is still groping, may entertain themselves by searching out why no ancient author, or classic poet, has spoken of the now common displays of the Aurora; or in pondering as to the nature of the mysterious bond which unites this terrestrial phenomenon to the motions of far-off Jupiter; questions, in face of which, science is still dumb. Washington and Jefferson College.

The meeting of the Board of Trustees of Washington and Jefferson College, a partial report of which we published yesterday morning, terminated Tuesday evening, and resulted in the location of the institution at Washington, Pa.

The evening session was quite a protracted one, the time being occupied in the discussion of the claims of the different places and their advantages and disadvantages. The Board remained firm, as we reported yesterday, sixteen in favor of Washington and ten for Canonsburg, until at a late hour, when one member, it appears, was called away and another was induced to see the matter in a different light, and the final vote stood seventeen to eight.

This arrangement will of course be unsatisfactory to those who desired the location of the institution at Canonsburg, and on the other hand highly satisfactory to the Washingtonians.

On the whole we think the arrangement the most satisfactory and judicious that could have been made, as there appears to have been a majority of parties interested as well as a majority of the Board in favor of the location as made by the Trustees.

An Old Truth Illustrated.

It is always unsafe for a third party to engage or be witness in a dispute between relatives. This fact had another illustration in a case before Alderman Eggers yesterday. Two brothers, partners in business on Ohio street, Allegheny, got into a dispute relative to a piece of work done for a third party. The dispute waxed high between them, but finally veered around to the third party, who was present. The elder of the brothers accused this party of originating the discord, and thereupon attacked and, after severely beating, kicked him out of the store, in the melee striking him in the mouth and demolishing a set of false teeth. The abused individual subsequently made information before Alderman Eggers against his assailant for assault and battery, but the case was finally compromised and the suit withdrawn.

In Berryer's library, lately sold, was a remarkable copy of Bossuet's funeral orations. Berryer once defended some printers prosecuted for a coalition. In his speech he expressed regret that his failing eyes would not allow him to read some of the papers annexed to his brief, and after the trial, the printers of Paris, as an acknowledgment of the advocate's services, printed this edition of Bossuet in such large characters that the shortest-sighted man might read it without spectacles. When the work was done they broke up the types, so that no second copy might ever be printed. Berryer wept tears of joy when the volume was presented to him.

The Artificial Limb Manufacturing CO.

CHARTERED BY THE STATE OF PENNA.

All Shareholders are Men Wearing the Limbs Made by the Company.

To those requiring a limb we would say that our own experience has induced us to establish a factory here that would make a comfortable and durable limb for a reasonable price. After trying a number of solid socket and padded socket legs, we have each found more comfort and usefulness in this "ADJUSTABLE LACEING SOCKET" than in any other made in the country. One of our number, a skilled mechanic, has charge of the shop. We have bought the right to use two of the best patents, and by our experience we hope to improve in every way that will add to the comfort, durability or appearance of the limbs we make. We have put the price of our new legs at $80. Persons from a distance are only detained in the city while the measure and a cast of the injured limb is taken.

The saving to purchasers, as compared with Eastern prices, is from $20 to $95 in the price of legs; at least $26 railroad fare, hotel bills and other traveling expenses, and then we are satisfied that our limb will give better satisfaction than any one made in New York or Philadelphia. If we can get orders, we can maintain our factory at the above price, and we therefore ask an examination before going elsewhere.

We make to order and keep on hand a supply of stockings, braces, and appliances for injured or deformed limbs, also, crutches, trusses, shoulder braces, &c. For further information or circular, containing many testimonial letters from those who have worn our artificial limbs, address ARTIFICIAL LIMB MANUFACTURING CO., No. 503 PENN STREET, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth, Pittsburgh, Pa. ap13:h35 TTHT

Five common cases composed the business at the Allegheny Mayor's office yesterday.

Only two million bushels of coal will be shipped during the present rise, for lower ports.

The Allegheny Councils will hold a regular meeting this evening at half past seven o'clock.

A number of new trees were planted on the East Common side of the Allegheny Park, below Ohio street, yesterday.

Taken Over.—David Auday, sentenced to five years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, was taken over to that institution yesterday.

Sent up for Ninety Days.—Thos. Dunn was arrested yesterday by the Mayor's police, and after a hearing was committed to jail for ninety days as a professional thief.

Illegal Liquor Selling.—A warrant was issued yesterday by Alderman Lynch, for the arrest of Ann Taylor, charged, on oath of C. H. Simmons, with selling liquor on Sunday.

An Envelope containing seventy-five dollars was lost on Market street, yesterday afternoon, by a young lady. The finder will be liberally rewarded, and receive the thanks of the owner by leaving it at Alderman Humbert's office, Fourth avenue.

Held for Court.—Patrick Dolan and his wife, against whom an information was made by their daughter, charging them with aggravated assault and battery, an account of which we published yesterday, waived a hearing and gave bail for their appearance at Court.

Never Returned.—George W. Biggs, dealer in watches, jewelry, &c., &c., alleges he gave Jerry Nolan seventeen dollars worth of watches to sell on commission, but has never seen or heard of Jerry since. Alderman McMasters issued a warrant for the arrest of Jerry on a charge of larceny as bailee.

The vacancy in the Allegheny Controllership will be filled by the City Councils to-night, by the election of Mr. Wm. M. Porter, the nominee of the caucus recently held. Mr. Porter will assume the active duties of the office about May 15th, when the resignation of Mr. Francis takes effect.

Threatened Him.—John Cooper, a lame soldier, alleges George Gillespie came to his house on Fifth avenue Tuesday evening, and being refused admission, threatened to take his life the first opportunity. To prevent this, Alderman McMasters issued a warrant for the arrest of Gillespie on an information for surety of the peace.

Coroner's Inquest.—Yesterday morning about eleven o'clock John Parker, a colored man, aged about forty-five years and residing in the Eleventh ward, died suddenly while at work in Bailey's steam quarry. Coroner Clawson held an inquest and the jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease.

Alleged False Pretence.—Daniel W. Olegar made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against Louis D. Craft for false pretences. Olegar alleges Craft obtained a quantity of oil valued at two hundred and twelve dollars, giving in exchange for the same an accepted draft, which proved afterwards to be worthless. A warrant for the arrest of the accused was issued.

Complaint Books.—Books have been placed by order of the Board of Health at Barclay's, in the Seventh, Alderman Irwin's, in the Sixteenth, and Alderman Moreland's in the Twelfth, wards, in which persons knowing of any nuisance injurious to the general health of the city are requested to make memorandums of the same. Citizens by attending to this matter can greatly facilitate the business in charge of the Board of Health.

Serious Accident.—A little boy about ten years of age, residing with his uncle, Adam Wiggins, on Smithfield street, was seriously injured yesterday. It appears he, in company with several other boys, were playing at the corner of Seventh avenue and Smithfield street, where he fell and struck his head against the corner of a box. He was taken up insensible and removed to his home, where he was attended by Dr. Duncan.

A Black Eye.—Samuel Shore and Mary Burke were eating supper together at a saloon on Smithfield street, Tuesday evening, when a dispute arose between them. Samuel, according to Mary's statement, became very much enraged, and struck her a terrible blow with his fist in the eye, changing it from a beautiful brown to a comingled black and blue color. Alderman McMasters yesterday, at the instance of Mary, issued a warrant for the arrest of Samuel.

Taken Back.—William J. Welch, a notice of whose arrest we published yesterday morning, was taken back to Wellsville yesterday evening. It appears that he had been arrested in that place on a charge of assault and battery and a fine imposed on him, and in default of payment was committed to the lock-up, from where he made his escape. The authorities at Wellsville were notified of his arrest here, by telegraph, yesterday morning, and last evening an officer arrived here and took him back to Wellsville.

An exceedingly spirited and graphic Cartoon, illustrating the Levee at New Orleans, accompanies number five of Appletons' Journal. The Cartoons of this Journal are printed apart from the text, on tinted paper, and form very suitable pictures for framing. The "Levee at New Orleans" represents one of the most picturesque and animated scenes in the world—a crowd of steamers, throngs of people of every grade and color, and piles of merchandise. Appletons' Journal is a very great success, while Victor Hugo's great novel, interesting miscellany, and the novelty of the manner in which it is illustrated, have been the cause.

Intemperate Temperance Man.—Yesterday George McLellan, of Middletown, a station on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway, several miles from the city, appeared before Alderman McMasters and made information against George Dickson, for surety of the peace. McLellan stated that a temperance society had been organized in the village, before which Dickson, who was a prominent member, had delivered an address. Some of the sentiments displeased a number of the members, who accordingly wished to withdraw from the organization. Among this number was McLellan. He made known his intention to Dickson, giving his reasons therefor, whereupon that individual threatened him with all manner of bodily harm, and was exceedingly abusive in his language, which caused the information to be made. The accused was arrested and gave bail for a further hearing.

THE COURTS.

Common Pleas—Judge Sterrett.

WEDNESDAY, April 21.—In the case of Franklin vs. Wilson, previously reported, the jury found for plaintiff in the sum of six cents.

Arbuthnot vs. Lanahan, reported on trial yesterday. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $103.

Wm. Barker, Jr. administrator of Edward Hyde vs. Taussig, Livingston & Co., action on a contract. Hyde was proprietor of a cotton mill in Allegheny city and the defendants, who were doing business in St. Louis, Missouri, entered into a contract with him to spin cotton yarn at nine and ten cents per pound for a term of six months. It is alleged by plaintiff that the defendants failed to comply with their part of the agreement in furnishing the cotton, in consequence of which the mill laid idle for several months, whereby a loss of over six thousand dollars was sustained by the proprietor. On trial.

Barclay vs. Davidson. Motion for new trial and reasons filed.

District Court—Judge Kirkpatrick.

WEDNESDAY, April 21.—The case of Robert Murphy vs. The Administrator of David Sproul, previously reported, was resumed. The attorneys for defendants having offered to put Mr. Moorhead, one of the administrators, on the stand, which offer was objected to by plaintiff's counsel, on the ground that under the operations of the new law relating to parties in interest testifying in their own behalf administrators and executors were excluded, Judge Kirkpatrick overruled the objection. His decision is based upon the act of 1865, relative to the admission of the testimony of administrators and executors. Verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $785,98.

Hutchison vs. School Directors of Indiana township. Defendant's counsel moved for a new trial and filed the following reasons:

First—That the verdict was against the evidence and against the charge of the Court.

Second—The Court erred in submitting the case to the jury on the evidence.

Third—The Court refused to charge as requested by defendant.

Shade and wife vs. Ainsworth and wife. Action on the case to recover damages for "words spoken," or slander. Under the new law both parties were placed upon the witness stand. Mrs. Shade had the "first swear," and testified that the defendant, Mrs. Ainsworth, had circulated reports damaging to her character and reputation. Mrs. A., in her "swear," denied the allegations. There were three or four witnesses on either side and the swearing was directly opposite. After argument by counsel and the charge of the Court, the jury retired and after remaining out a few moments returned for instructions. They desired to know if they could divide the costs between the parties. The Court informed them that they had not that power. Jury out.

Eiforth vs. Malone, action for damages alleged to have been sustained by plaintiff, in consequence of the erection of a mortar bed by the defendant, which caused the water to overflow the plaintiff's premises. On trial.

A Young Lady Missing—Sudden and Strange Disappearance—Foul Play Suspected.

On Wednesday evening of last week, Miss Jane Kiley, a young lady residing in East Birmingham, came to the city to visit a relative on High street, where she remained until about five o'clock in the evening, when she started for her home, since which time her friends have heard nothing of her, notwithstanding diligent search and inquiry has been been made to discover her whereabouts. She is a native of Ireland, and having only been in the city about four months, is comparatively a stranger, and her friends fear that she has been lured into some improper place, where she is retained against her will, or has been foully dealt with in some way. There is not the slightest grounds for believing that she has gone away voluntarily, or that she has made way with herself, which fact tends strongly to increase the suspicion of foul play. The young lady is a cousin of Mr. Henry McSwiggin, a merchant on Liberty street, and any information calculated to throw light upon this mysterious affair, will be thankfully received by him.

The Butler County Sensations.

We commence this morning the report of the murder trial now going forward in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler county. Zachary Taylor Hockenburry is charged with taking the life of a fair cousin with whom he was desperately in love, and received no corresponding sympathy and affection in return. The trial of Mrs. Shugart and an alleged paramour, for the murder of her husband by poison, will follow, and we anticipate it to prove deeply interesting, and as thrilling a life history of misguided love and crime as we have ever recorded. In order that both these interesting trials may lose none of their interest, we have detailed Mrs. Jane G. Swisshelm to report the proceedings expressly for the GAZETTE, and from her graphic and polished pen we can promise correct and truthful reports and sketches drawn from the occasions.

Cross Suits.

All suits before magistrates are the result of a little cross feeling between the parties engaged, but the information brought before Alderman M'Masters yesterday by Robert Young against Charles Whitson for assault and battery was doubly a cross suit, inasmuch as it was an offset to an information against Young made before Alderman Donaldson by Whitson for a similar offence. The difficulty originated in some misunderstanding relative to a horse trade, and which resulted in a regular fight between the parties. In both cases the defendants were arrested and held to bail for Court, Policemen in Trouble.

Tuesday evening, about twelve o'clock, an arrest was made by two members of the police force, which is likely to get them into trouble. Alderman John A. Strain, Alderman Lynch, and some other parties, it appears, were passing along the street conversing, when they met a police officer, and just at that moment a remark was made by Alderman Strain, which the officer understood to be directed to him, and to which he replied. Some words passed between the parties, when they separated. A few moments after, the officer, who is a substitute on the force, met officers McKee and Cochran, and informed them of what had occurred, whereupon they told him that he should have arrested Alderman Strain, who it appears had made the remark referred to. They then returned to a saloon on Fifth avenue, where the Alderman had stopped, and one of them went in and informed Alderman Strain that he was was wanted outside. He stepped out of the door to see what was wanted, when he was arrested by officer Gibson. He made no resistance, but started to the lock-up with the officer, and Alderman Lynch and officers Cochran and McKee followed. After proceeding some distance McKee made some remark to Alderman Strain, who replied in a manner that did not suit him, when, it is alledged, he struck the Alderman and knocked him down. Alderman Lynch interfered to save his friend, and he, too, was knocked into the gutter, and by this time Mr. Thos. Flood, hearing of the affray, ran into the crowd to see what was going on, when he received a blow also, and was taken into custody as were also the other Aldermen. The whole party then proceeded to the watch-house without further trouble. On arriving there, officer Gibson made his statement to Captain Reed, who, having no authority to hear the case, could of course do nothing else but retain the parties arrested, or require them to leave a deposit for their appearance in the morning. One hundred dollars was deposited for the appearance of the three at the Mayor's Morning Court, when they were allowed to depart.

At the hearing yesterday morning, the facts, substantially as stated, were adduced, whereupon the Mayor stated that as the officer had not assaulted Alderman Strain at the time the disorderly conduct was alleged to have taken place, but was made afterwards and at the suggestion of other officers, he would discharge the cases.

It was alleged that officers McKee and Cochrane were drunk, but officer Gibson stated in his testimony that they were not drunk. Alderman Strain then asked to be sworn, and stated positively on oath that McKee was drunk.

The case did not terminate here, however, as Alderman Lynch made information before Alderman Strain charging McKee with assault and battery, and Alderman Strain made a similar charge before Alderman Thomas against both McKee and Cochran. Cochran was arrested, waived a hearing and gave bail for his appearance at Court. Subsequently another information was made against both Cochran and McKee, before Alderman Lynch, by Rose Raney, charging them with assault and battery with intent to commit rape, upon which Cochran was arrested and held to bail in the sum of two thousand dollars for his appearance at Court. It appears that in the early part of the evening, previous to the difficulty above referred to, Cochran and McKee had arrested Rose for street walking and taken her to the lockup, from which she was discharged the next morning by the Mayor, on the ground that she was not sound in mind. McKee had not been arrested on either of the charges at a late hour last night.

So the case stands for the present, and as it will be investigated in Quarter Sessions Court, the full facts will there be developed. Mayor Brush should instruct his police that they are preservers of the peace and order of the city, and that they must not imagine themselves so exalted by wearing of the blue as to arrest people for the mere bandying of words with themselves. There are many men in the police, indeed, the great majority of the force, who are courteous and gentlemanly, and none the less efficient therefrom. Citizens have rights as well as policemen, and while the latter should be protected at all hazards when discharging their legitimate duties, the former should enjoy full immunity from their needless impudence, insult and tyranny, resulting oftentimes from personal malice and enmity towards the object of their attack.

The Braddock's Field Plank Road.

A meeting of the special Committee, appointed by Councils to negotiate for the purchase of that portion of the McAdamized and Plank roads now within the city limits upon which toll is collected, held a meeting at he office of Dr. Gallaher, yesterday, relative to the purchase of the Braddock's Field Plank Road.

The Company, we learn, value that portion of their road lying within the city limits at $4,500, over and above the indebtedness, which is estimated at $5,000.

The Committee, after a careful consideration of the matter, resolved that it would be inexpedient to purchase at these figures, and will so report to Councils at the next regular meeting, recommending that no further action be taken until such time as the sequestrator shall have collected a sufficient sum of money from tolls and discharged the indebtedness of the Company.

When we take into consideration the fact that the amount of toll collected on the road does not exceed one thousand dollars per year, about two-thirds of which will be required to keep the road in repair and pay the toll collectors, the date at which the city would possess the road, under this recommendation, we are inclined to believe would be in the far distant future.

Friendship Fire Company.

Last evening, by direction of the Committee on Fire Engines, the members of the Ellsworth Hose Company took possession of the hose carriage, horse and hose left in the "Friendship" (Allegheny) House by the bolting members of that Company. The apparatus will hereafter, until the organization of a new company in the Second ward, be taken care of by the Ellsworth Company.

We are informed that there is about $800 in the treasury of the Friendship, for which a demand was made on the Treasurer by the unruly members. The Treasurer, under the advice of legal counsel, refused to hand over the money until properly called for by a majority of the active members, who alone are authorized to receive it.

The Committee on Fire Engines yesterday instructed the City Solicitor to proceed at once with the necessary legal measures to compel the return of the property taken away by the bolters. At present the Friendship house is closed and the fire alarm gong removed. The whole affair, however, will likely be settled in a few days and result in the organization of a Company perhaps much better than the old one.

The Friendship Fire Company.

We have received the following communication from the Friendship Fire Company of Allegheny:

ALLEGHENY CITY, April 21, 1869.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Noticing an article in the different papers condemnatory of the Friendship Fire Company, we would ask permission to make some corrections in regard to the mis-statements which have appeared. It is charged that the Company is disorganized, which we most emphatically deny. It is also charged that we have taken property belonging to the city, which is not the case, as the gum coats, shirts, belts, &c., were bought out of money earned by the active members of the Company, and not collected as represented. In regard to the Prize Hose Carriage taken by the Company, we would state that it was presented to the Company by the Ladies' Soldiers' Monumental Fair, the money for which was collected for the Fair and not for the Company. Again, it is charged that the Company could not be relied upon for service hereafter, which we state was not the case, as they had been sleeping at the Engine House as usual, and were as willing as ever to do service. As regards the allegation that the Company have threatened dire vengeance against any persons taking charge of the House as a Company, we simply state that it is false. The fire committee disbanded the company and closed the house without assigning any cause for so doing, which we regard as rather a queer proceeding on their part. In conclusion we desire to state a great majority of the members sustain the action of the Company thus far, and we would state that instead of nine members being the cause of the trouble none are, and that the members who vacated the house and took charge of the Company's property are in a large majority, and are determined to raise an independent organization.

FRIENDSHIP FIRE COMPANY.

Fatal Accident—Instant Death.

Last evening, about six o'clock, John McIlherron, a driver in the employ of James Mawhinney, brick maker, met instant death in the following manner: He was driving his team of three horses, drawing a wagon heavily loaded with sand, up Sixth avenue, near Cherry alley, being seated on the wheel horse, where, from excessive intoxication, he lost his balance and fell to the ground and the front wheel of the wagon passed over his neck, breaking it and killing him instantly. His body was carried to Dick's undertaking establishment, where Coroner Clawson proceeded to hold an inquest, which was adjourned over till to-day. The deceased was an Irishman about thirty years of age and enjoyed good reputation. He leaves a wife and two children. The painful news was not broken to his widow, as she is in an extremely delicate condition, and evil consequences were expected to result from the shock which the awful announcement would impart. The deceased resided at Shingiss street, Hardscrabble, in the old Eighth ward.

Sabbath School Anniversary.

Our young friends of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, and their friends, both young and old, are expecting to have a right good anniversary time this evening. The Sunday school will be closing up its year with prizes, recitations, reports, speeches, songs, and lastly a most elaborate representation of striking scenes in the "Progress" of Bunyan's Pilgrim. The pupils will sing something now, and then to cheer the good man along the way. Altogether, we expect a most unique entertainment, fresh, original and attractive, yet such as is appropriate to a place dedicated to the worship of GOD. We hope the pastor and superintendent will be encouraged by a large and prompt assemblage, the hour being fixed at seven o'clock for the sake of younger pupils.

Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of the winter term of the Western Theological Seminary were held last evening in the First Presbyterian church, (Rev. E. E. Swift's,) Beaver street, Allegheny. The occasion attracted an overflowing audience of the friends of the institution, to whom the exercises were of great interest. After the usual introductory exercises, conducted by Rev. Hoak, Mr. J. H. Montgomery, of the graduating class, delivered the valedictory address, which was replied to by Mr. J. R. Wilson, of the middle class. Following these exercises, Dr. Elliott presented the diplomas to the graduates, fourteen in number, with a few well-timed and appropriate remarks. Dr. Wilson delivered the parting address, after which the audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Jacobus.

An Excavator.

Eliza Williams, a colored lady, occupies a neighboring tenant to William Hookenberg (white) in Pleasant Valley, Second ward, Allegheny. Hookenberg, it is said, has a dislike to his neighbor and takes every method to annoy her. The latest annoyance is that of excavating his lot so close to the house occupied by Eliza as to endanger the stability of the building, and the life of its inmates. When remonstrated with, it is alleged he refused to cease operations, and threatened to proceed until the house fell. Eliza yesterday consulted Alderman McMasters relative to the matter, which resulted in the issue of a warrant for the arrest of Hookenberg, on an information for surety of the peace, preferred against him by his neighbor.

Fiercely Attacked.

George W. Briggs, Wm. Smith and Samuel Young are employed in grading Kirkpatrick street. Yesterday they got into a row and abused each other pretty freely, Briggs, however, experiencing the worst of the combat. He appeared before Alderman McMasters after the fight was over and lodged an information against Smith for mayhem, exhibiting an ear shockingly chewed and bitten, as he alleges, by Smith. He also lodged information for assault and battery and surety of the peace against Young, whom he charges with knocking him down and holding him while Smith maltreated Warrants were issued.

Pharmaceutical Association. — Last evening another meeting of the druggists was held in the Western University, on Ross street, to take some action toward the organization of a Pharmaceutical Association, Mr. Joseph Abel presiding. After some discussion, a Committee of five was appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws for the proposed Society. Another Committee was appointed to notify the druggists of the county of the next meeting, and request their attendance. The time of meeting will be hereafter announced. The meeting then adjourned.

Chimney on Fire.—Yesterday, about one o'clock, an alarm of fire was sounded from box 37, Allegheny Fire Alarm, located at the Columbia Engine House. The alarm was caused by the burning out of the soot in a chimney connected with a house on Sandusky, near Water street. The engines were out but were not in service.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—"Kathleen Mavourneen" was presented at the Opera House last night to a reasonably large audience, with Mr. and Mrs. Watkins' in the leading roles. "School" will be presented this evening.

MASONIC HALL.—Last night Sam. Sharpley's original troupe of minstrels gave the opening entertainment at Masonic Hall, to a large audience, and as they will remain but two nights only, the Hall will doubtless be crowded during their stay.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The audience at the Old Theatre last night was quite large, and a noticeable feature was the number of ladies present. Mr. Taylor continues to be the chief attraction, and he is undoubtedly a drawing card.

THE "OLD FOLKS."—To-night the "Old Folks" will give one of their unique and inimitable concerts in Lafayette Hall, Wood street. The "Old Folks" comprise our best amateur musical talent, and their concerts heretofore have always been exceedingly interesting and attractive. On this occasion they will appear in full costume, which will naturally add to the attraction of the affair. Those of our readers who love a good, soul-stirring vocal entertainment should not fail to be in attendance.

—Special trains left Chicago Tuesday for Cairo, containing two hundred and twenty-five Illinois editors, their wives, sisters and sweethearts. They reached Cairo Wednesday morning at six o'clock. They were escorted to the St. Charles Hotel by the Reception Committee, where they were formally welcomed by the Mayor of the city and the editor of the Bulletin. The Press Convention proceeded to business. The most important resolution offered was one to take steps to have all the general laws published in all papers of the State, at a price sufficient to cover the cost of composition, the local laws to be published in every paper in the locality interested, at the same rates. A committee was appointed to endeavor to have a change favorable to papers made in the libel law. The Press Association went to Mound city at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the steamer General Anderson. After visiting the National Cemetery, a banquet was tendered to them by Mound city.

—Mr. Sylvester Mooney arrived in Chicago, Wednesday afternoon, via Pacific Railroad, in eight and one half days from San Francisco, including nine hours staging, thirty-eight hours delay in making connections, and three hundred and twenty miles on slow moving construction trains at the ends of the two roads. On the 17th inst there were but fifty miles of road to build the junction of the Union and the Central Pacific tracks and it would be completed by the first of May, thus forming a continuous line of railroad across the continent from Earlport to San Francisco, a distance of very nearly three thousand five hundred miles.

CAUTION.

The great popularity, on account of its salutary medicinal effects, of SQUIRE'S LONDON EFFERVESCING BI. CARB. POTASSA for which I am the sole Agent, has induced certain unprincipled parties to imitate my label, and palm off as the genuine, worthless trash which bears no resemblance even to the imported article. Those desiring the true Potassa can obtain it from Messrs. J. C. MATTERN, J. B. CHERRY, J. E. BURNS & CO. and S. K. NORGRAVE.
